STATE RESTS IN COPELAND TRIAL

Adopted Daughter of Murdered Lecturer Does Not Testify

Five Witnesses Take Stand for State—Defense Attempts to Introduce Part of Knight of Columbus Oath as Evidence.

GALVESTON, Texas, Oct. 25.—The state rested this afternoon in the case of John Copeland, bank cashier of Marshall, Texas, on trial in connection with the killing of William Black, an anti-Catholic lecturer a year and nine months ago at Marshall. Only five witnesses had been examined and Sadie Black, the adopted daughter of the lecturer, was not among them. It was announced tonight, however, that the girl was on her way to Galveston from Illinois and would arrive tomorrow night. The state's attorney said she would be a witness for them in rebuttal. The defense began its case with an attempt to introduce as evidence what it declared to be an authentic copy of the fourth degree oath of Knights of Columbus to refute the authority of the circular introduced in evidence yesterday as having been circulated by Clarence F. Hall, Black's business agent. Sam J. Williams of Galveston was sworn in as a witness but after he had stated he was a fourth degree member of the organization and familiar with the oath taken, the state objected, gaining a temporary victory.

The jury was excused during arguments. Attorneys Mart Royston and James B. Stubbs contended that the oath should be admitted as evidence as refutting the cath circulated by Black, which they said was "false and scurrilous" and as showing the motive of Copeland in going to Black to protest against another lecture.

Judge Briggs upheld "at this time' however, the contention of Attorneys Marsene Johnson and P. O. Beard for the state, that no ground had been laid for the introduction of the oath.

Witnesses Who Heard Lecture.

The defense's next move was to summon two witnesses who had attended the lecture given by William Black in Marshall on the night preceding the shooting.

Henry Holcomb, a shop workman of Marshall, said Black declared the convents were more or less, prisons and ought to have government inspection.

The lecturer, he added also made sensational statements about the relations of nuns and priests and declared he would rather see his wife or mother dead than in a convent.

"Did he make a wholesale denunciation of the nuns?" asked Attorney Beard on the cross-examination.

"Yes, nearly all," replied the witness.

He added that the lecture was widely talked about in the shop next day.

Expected to Die in "Cause."

Walter Scott, now of Fort Worth, but at the time of the killing helping about his father's store in Marshall, gave testimony similar to Holcomb's. He said that Black declared during his address that he had been shot several times, had been in a hospital several times and expected that he would die in the "cause."

The state objected when the defense sought to introduce a deposition taken at Louisa, Lawrence county, Kentucky, detailing Black's entrance into and departure from the Masonic order. It claimed the deposition was intended to injure Black's character with the jury. The objection was sustained by Judge Briggs "at this itme."

The defense had contended that the deposition was admissible as showing that Black was unreliable and that statements made by him could not be beleived.

This, it contended, would justify the action of Copeland in going to him to protest against his lectures.

Just before court adourned Attorney Stubbs produced the judgment of the district court of Harrison county acquitting Harry Winn and Frank O'Leary of Marshall in connection with the killing of Black.

Attorney Royston for the defense argued that the whole trend of the state's case had shown a purpose to charge conspiracy on the part of the men who went to Black's room to kill him. He said that the fact that two men had been acquitted would bear on any charge of conspiracy against other men being tried or to be tried.

The state argued that the action of another jury should not be allowed to influence the action of the present jury. Judge Briggs adjourned court until morning, when he said he would announce his decision. The defense used one of the state's witnesses as a character witness for Copeland. He was John W. Herndon, a Marshall undertaker, who took charge of Black's body after the shooting.

"How long have you known Copeland?"

"Twenty or twenty five years," said Herndon.

"What is his reputation for peace and order?"

"Good."

Herndon said he was a Protestant.

SPRINGFIELD COAL DEALER PASSES AWAY.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25.—John H. Scheibner, aged 71 years, president of the Springfield Co-operative Coal company, died here today as a result of slight injuries received at the company's mine.

Mr. Scheibner was caught in the machinery at the top of the mine and knocked insensible. He died forty minutes later in a hospital.

KEEL IS LAID FOR GREAT BATTLESHIP

Superdreadnought California Being Constructed at Mare Island Navy Yard.

Vallejo, Cal., Oct. 25.—The battleship Oregon, built on the Pacific coast many years ago, was the guest of honor today at the keel laying of the Superdreadnought California at Mare Island navy yard. The Oregon came from San Francisco today with the California congressional delegation headed by Senator James D. Phelan and some 800 civilian guests.

The California should be ready for launching January 1, 1918, and in commission the following year. She will have a displacement of 32,000 tons, a speed of twenty-one knots and will carry fifty-eight officers and 1,022 men.

BRITISH INTERCEPT LETTERS TO GERMANY

Tell of Activities of Merchantman in American Waters

North German Floyd Steamship Not Subject to Internment—Free to Leave as She Pleases So Long as Neutrality Laws Are Not Violated.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The following two letters intercepted on their way to Germany were made public today. The first one from Max —, 461 East Eighth street, South London, addressed to his brother, said:

"Dear Gustav — The Willehad sailed today. I am to stay here till the end of the war. The Willehad will act within the American three-mile limit as a telegraph station for submarines. She has four months' provisions aboard."

The second letter was from the captain of the Willehad, named Jachens, who wrote from New London to his sister in Germany, saying:

"I rejoice I am now here as captain of the Willehad. The Koln still lies at Boston. I am here with the Willehad on a special mission.

"Later you will hear more from me. I rejoice that I have done something for the Fatherland and that I shall have more to do."

The North German Lloyd Steamship Willehad which took refuge in Boston soon after the beginning of the war, was taken to New London on August 25, last, under command of Captain Jachens and was tied up at the pier of the Eastern Forwarding Company, the American agent for the German submarine merchantmen. The Willehad was said to carry a full crew of German sailors, some of whom were declared at the time to have been recruited from other ships. The wireless on the Willehad, as well as on all other German and belligerent vesesls in American ports, was dismantled and sealed by customs officers soon after the beginning of the war.

The steamship Koln, also owned by the North German-Lloyd, reached Boston from Bremen August 11, 1914, after eluding a British cruiser in the Atlantic. The Koln is still tied up at Boston.

The Willehad at New London was taken to a prepared dock, which the Eastern Forwarding Company had erected under rush orders.

Denies Knowledge of Letters.

New London, Conn., Oct. 24.—Captain Jachens of the steamer Willehad, which has been tied up here since last August, denied late today any knowledge of the letters intercepted by the British on their way to Germany referring to movements of the Willehad.

Captain Jachens' only answer to all questions was:

"I don't know anything about it."

Not Subject to Internment.

Washington, Oct. 24.—There have been various rumors about the mission of the Willehad at New London, but government officials here, after investigation, have accepted as true the story that she ventured to sea from Boston and braved the allied cruiser patrol off the coast for fifty miles to act as "mother ship" for German submarines expected to arrive at the Connecticut port.

Inquiry has developed that the Willehad has not left her dock at New London since arriving there, and her wireless equipment has remained sealed. The ship is a merchantman in American water for safety, not subject to internment, and is free to leave as she pleases so long as American neutrality is not violated.

Admits Authorship.

Quincy, Mass., Oct. 25.—Max Wietlsch, a machinist employed in this city, who came to this country on the German steamer Willehad, now at New London, Conn., said tonight that he had recently written a letter to his brother Gustav, who is in the German army. When informed of the contents of a letter intercepted in London and made public in cable dispatches, Wieltsch admitted he was the author. He refused to make any explanation of the statement in the letter that the Willehad was to act within the American three-mile limit as a telegraph station for submarines.

IN THRIVING CONDITION.

Boston, Oct. 25.—Charles S. Hamlin, governor of the federal reserve board, told the Massachusetts board of trade at its annual meeting today that the federal reserve system was in a thriving condition.

"All the twelve banks are earning their expenses," he said. As a whole the system for eight months ending in August last showed combined earnings of more than $2,700,000 from which total current expenses of $1,300,000 should be deducted, Mr. Hamlin reported.

Daily News Supports Hughes for President

CHICAGO, Oct. 25—The Chicago Daily News which supported President Wilson for the nomination and also the election in 1912 declares today in a vigorous column editorial in favor of Charles Evans Hughes, Republican nominee for president of the United States.

The editorial closed with the following:

"In the opinion of the Daily News, the safety of the nation and the integrity of its institutions cannot wisely be entrusted to President Wilson for another term."

As it is conceded that the Daily News' endorsement is worth fifty thousand votes to the candidates it favors, its declaration of intention to support Mr. Hughes is considered the leading development of the Chicago campaign.

TWO GIRLS DIE IN FACTORY FIRE

Several Others Are Still Unaccounted For

Two Known Victims Killed in Jumping From Roof of Burning Building to Tenement House Adjoining.

NEW YORK, October 25.—Two young women were killed in a four-alarm fire which wrecked a seven-story loft and factory building in East Houston street tonight, causing property damage estimated at $100,000. Several other persons had not been accounted for late tonight. Police and firemen went to the aid of a score of men and women trapped on the roof. A number of persons, several of them firemen, were overcome by smoke or cut by flying glass.

Four Alarms Again Sounded.

A few minutes after the apparatus reached the Houston street fire, flames were seen shooting from another building on Green street, four blocks away. Four alarms were again sounded and virtually all the fire apparatus in the lower part of Manhattan was called out.

Killed in Leap From Roof.

The streets in that part of the city are lined with factory and loft buildings as well as tenement houses. According to the police the two known victims tonight were killed in jumping from the roof of the building to a tenement house adjoining, a fall of two stories. Firemen were trying to rescue them when they leaped.

MAY CHANGE LOCATION OF MEXICAN CONFERENCE

Transfer Will Be Made to Washington Unless Agreement is Reached Within A Few Days

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 25—Unless an agreement on an adequate and amicable plan of border control is entered into by the Mexican-American joint commission within a few days, it appeared a virtual certainty today that a serious effort would be made to have the conference transferred to Washington.

That an agreement will not be reached before General Carranza has demonstrated his ability to eliminate Villa and his followers is admitted by those in touch with the commissioners. The Mexicans were still without definite news of the progress of the campaign against Villa, but they continued to profess a belief in the success of General Trevino's operations about Chihuahua. The following statement was issued by the commissioners tonight:

"The gist of two telegrams just received from General Pershing is to the effect that Villa has with him personally about 500 armed men and a considerable number unarmed. This is not understood to include a number of scattered detachments of unknown strength. He is moving about in the region southeast of Lake Babicora. Three days ago he was at Santa Ana, but yesterday cowboys reported by telephone from Santa Ana that Villa was at Neurachic. There are no de facto government troops between Madera and Chihuahua City.

"A column under General Ozuna, according to information reaching the Mexican commission has left Chihuahua City to operate against Villa and the commanding officer of de facto government troops near Valle has orders to co-operate with him in preventing Villa's escape to the northward."

RATE IS SUSPENDED.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 25.—The Illinois Public Utilities Commission today received notice from the interstate commerce commission that the passenger fare rate of two and four-tenth cents per mile between Chicago and other Illinois points into St. Louis, recently promulgated, has been suspended.

CLERGYMEN WILL NOT ADVISE DYING PERSONS

Episcopalians Now Believe Such Service Is Not Strictly Religious One.

St. Louis, No., Oct. 25.—Clergymen of the Protestant Episcopal church no longer will advise dying persons as to the disposal of their property if the house of bishops concurs in an action taken in the house of deputies of the church general convention in session here today.

This action would eliminate from the prayer book the direction to ministers to urge a dying person who has not dieposed of his goods to make his will, declare his assets and liabilities for the better discharging of his conscience and the quietness of his executors.

Francis A. Lewis of Philadelphia objected, asserting that such service is not, as is intended, a strictly religious one.

"Whether a man has made his will is none of the clergy's business," he said. "His creditors will take care of his debts and his executors in all probability will be well paid."

As a result the lower house, sitting as a committee of the whole, vetoed the proposal of the commission and voted to drop the objectionable part of the present rubric.

The deputies also rejected a proposal to admonish clergymen to "earnesly move such sick persons as are of ability, to be liberal with the poor."

The lower house approved a recommendation to insert in the service for the visitation of the sick, a rubric directing that the sick person shall be moved to make a special confession of his sins, if he feels his conscience troubled with any matter, after which confession the minister shall assure him of God's mercy and forgiveness.

The rubric to be incorporated in the prayer book must be approved by the house of bishops.

Adopt Prayer for the Dead.

The house of deputies adopted for the first time in the history of the church a prayer for the dead. This action also is subject to the concurrence of the house of bishops.

Heretofore, it was said, such prayers have been confined to the ritual of the Roman Catholic church.

Two prayers for the dead were submitted in the prayer book committee's report, one being recommitted to the committee and the other adopted. The committee also approved proposals to include in the prayer book for the first time a blessing for graves and a special funeral office for children. Slight changes were made in the sentence of commital in the office for the dead. These retained the expression of hope for the general resurrection and of the second coming of Christ.

Sulger Proposal Rejected.

The Rev. John E. Sulger of Terre Haute, Ind., urged the inclusion in the prayer book of a service to be read at the funerals of unbaptized adults, excommunicants and suicides for which there is at present no service. The proposal was rejected after the Rev. Robert Talbot of Washington, D. C., had asserted that no clergyman of the church ever refused such persons burial service, altho none is provided in the prayer book. He added, however, that he did not believe "they should have the same service as Christians."

Speakers urged that the United States flag should occupy a prominent place in every Protestant Episcopal church in the country at a joint session on missions of the houses of convention today. Rt. Rev. Theodore Irving Reese, bishop co-adjudator of Southern Ohio attacked what he termed, "emotional evangelism".

He said it was "sensational, commercialized and begets irreverence".

The Rt. Rev. Edward W. Osborne, who recently resigned as bishop of Springfield, Ills., told of his experiences in the mission field.

DIES NATURAL DEATH.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 25.—Resolutions endorsing the peace of President Wilson died in committee at the closing session of the Woman's Home Missionary Society here tonight.

A resolution attacking the liquor interests of America and anti-prohibition movement was adopted.

IS NEW MILITARY LEADER IN MEXICO

Villa's Recent Ascendency Commands Attention

Reports of Fall of Chihuahua City are Persistent but Unconfirmed—Ugly RePorts Disparage Stability of Carranza Regime.

BULLETIN.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 25.—Persistent reports of the fall of Chihuahua City to the Villa forces, which have been current here, have not been confirmed in advices to southern department headquarters of the United States army. Major General Frederick Funston, questioned directly regarding the reports said tonight that so far as he knew they were not true.

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Mexican Consul Garcia, at El Paso, Texas, telegraphed the Mexican embassy here tonight that he had been advised by General Trevino of the arrival at Chihuahua of troop trains bringing about 8,000 men under General Maycotte to reinforce the garrison.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25—Conditions in Northern Mexico, revolving on the new ascendency of Villa as a military leader are commanding more attention than at any time since the border raids which resulted in the dispatch of the American punitive expedition.

Administration officials made no effort tonight to disguise their opinion that the American-Mexican commission sitting at Atlantic City cannot be expected to arrive at a satisfactory solution of border problems until the situation in Chihuahua has been clarified. The impression stood out clearly from all the views expressed that while the present situation exists there is little possibility that the forces of regulars in Mexico will be withdrawn or national guardsmen on the border will be reduced.

Making Formidable Campaign

Coupled with ugly reports which disparage the stability of General Carranza's regime and interpret his removal from Mexico City to Queretaro as a sign of the breaking-up process which his enemies have repeatedly predicted the military movements of Villa now making a formidable campaign in Chihuahua are regarded here as menacing the de facto's control of the whole northern country.

Prominent in the whole situation are apparently well-founded but indefinite reports of the connection of the so-called legalista movement with the whole train of events, which are expected by those familiar with the Mexican situation here, to develop within a short time. Reports came to the war department today that Villa's camp fires were in sight of Chihuahua City and that General Trevino, the Carranza Commander there, altho plentifully supplied with arms and receiving reinforcements, was short of ammunition and considering evacuating the capital.

As a matter of military strategy, it was pointed out that Villa, once occupying Chihuahua, could compel the surrender of Juarez as he did easily once before and at another stroke might take Torreon, Monterey and Saltillo when he would be a military factor somewhat different from the bandit for whose life an American military expedition was despatched.

Bandit Operating Openly

The war department's reports on Villa's latest coup from Brigadier General Bell, who transmitted stories he had obtained from refugees arriving in El Paso. It was conceded the bandit leader was operating openly and in force against the de facto government's army.

General Bell's despatches gave details of the annihilation of Carranza column under General Ozuna by Villa forces at Palomas and described how the Villa troops captured or killed more than a thousand Carranza troops and took all the supply trains.

The Mexican embassy's explanation of General Carranza's move to Queretaro was that he had gone to prepare for the meeting of the constituent assembly, for which deputies have just been elected. The arrival of the families of General Carranza and Obregon in the United States was declared by the embassy officials to be without significance. Reports forwarded by Major General Funston, however, said General Trevino had privately advised many officials in Chihuahua to leave the city. Trevino has sent his own family out of the country.

Obregon Controls Supply

The shortage of ammunition among Carranza troops in the north is explained by the persons in touch with the legalista movement with the statement that the internal policies among the Carranza leaders are such that General Obregon personally is keeping control of practically all the available ammunition. So far as is known, Villa has no leader of consequence with the exception of Inez Salazar, whom he liberated

CLOSE DOWNSTATE SPEAKING CAMPAIGN

Lowden and Party Finish Down-State Campaign With Mass Meeting at Decatur.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Frank O. Lowden, Republican nominee for governor, and his associates on the state ticket, closed their twenty days down-state speaking by special train with a mass meeting at Decatur tonight. The campaign trip opened October 3. During the tour of the state the candidates visited 99 of the 102 counties in Illinois, addressed a total of 330 meetings.

Mr. Lowden and his associates on the state ticket will begin a canvass of Chicago and Cook county, where they will close the campaign.

FRENCH STILL HOLD CAPTURED GROUND

Region of Verdun Scene of Vicious Counter-Attacks

Teutonic Allies Striving From Three Points to Encompass Rumania—Von Mackensen Keeps Up Drive In Dobrudja.

From three points the Teutonic allies are working with feverish haste in an attempt to encompass Rumania—from the northeastern and eastern borders of Transylvania and thru Dobrudja. In the latter region and on the east Transylvania front further progress in their inroads into King Ferdinand's territory has been made. On the northeast Transylvania front, however, in engagements with the Russians, they have been driven from the heights south of Dorna Watra.

Probably Blow Up Bridge.

Keeping up his drive in Dobruja Field Marshal Von Mackensen has brought his line well above the Constanza-Tshernavoda railway line, the right wing resting approximately on Tachaul, near the Black Sea, 12 miles north of Constanza, and the left north of Tchernavoda, whence runs the only bridge across the Danube in this region. Whether the Rumanians in their evacuation of Tchernavoda left intact the four-mile bridge which would be of immense strategic value to the Teutonic allies in a diversion toward Bucharest, has not been made known, but following military precedent despite the quickness of Von Mackensen's forward push, it probably was blown up or otherwise badly damaged.

Rumanians Give and Take.

Further ground on the eastern Transylvania front on the Rumanian side of the Vulcan and Predeal passes has been given up to the Austro-Germans by the Rumanians, but according to Bucharest the Teutons east of the river Aluta, in Transylvania have been driven northward, while in the Uzul and Oituz valleys the Rumanians have made advances.

French Hold Positions.

In the region of Verdun where the French made their spectacular drive Tuesday over a wide front north and northeast of Verdun they are still holding the ground gained despite the vicious counter-attacks, delivered particularly in the region of Haudromont and Douamont, and east of the Fumin wood and north of Chenois have gained further ground. More than 4,500 German soldiers have been captured by the French in this regian. Elsewhere along the front where the French and British are facing the Germans in France, little activity except by the big guns, has been shown.

Likewise in the Austro-Italian theater the artillery is doing the greater part of the work along the entire line of battle.

The northern part of the Carso plateau is under a heavy bombardment. Only minor operations have taken place on the fronts in Russia and Macedonia.

"POLICE STAR NO. 15" AT LAST RESTORED

Lost During San Francisco Earthquake and Fire, Much Sought Star is Found Wednesday.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 25—"Police Star No. 15," whose wearer was ordered "shot on sight" by General Frederick Funston, U. S. A., during the 1906 earthquake and fire, was restored today after an absence of more than ten years. A policeman said he found it with a police uniform in an old trunk which he purchased from a second hand dealer. The star an duniform originally belonged to a city detective from whom it was stolen during the fire. Later a uniformed man with star "No. 15" was reported cutting bejeweled ears and fingers from women victoms.

General Funston ordered his soldiers to "shoot on sight."

STUDENTS COMPLAIN ABOUT MEAT

Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 25—After complaining about meat served in the college dining hall yesterday and getting more of it in the shape of hash today, more than 300 students of Highland Park College here walked out of the dining room today and went to nearby restaurants. The faculty contends the complaints of the students are unjustified.

U. S. BANKERS MAKE NEW BRITISH LOAN

Official Announcement Made By J. P. Morgan and Co.

New Loan, Aggregating $300,000,000, Will Bear Interest At 5½ Per Cent — Morgan Now In England—Will Check Influx of Gold In This Country.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Official announcement was made today by J. P. Morgan & Co. that a new British loan by American bankers, aggregating $300,000,000, had been arranged. It will bear interest at 5½ per cent and is payable in two installments, one of three years and one of five years.

An interesting feature of the loan is, according to the announcement, that because of the easy money market here it was arranged in advance of the time contemplated by the British government. Another is that it is expected to cause for a time at least a cessation of the enormous inflow of gold to this country, which is said to have caused apprehension in banking circles of late because of the danger of inflation and ficitious values.

J. P. Morgan sailed for England recently to arrange the loan and is still there.

"A new British government loan offering," says the statement, "had not been in contemplation at the present time, but the prevailing ease of money, and difficulty which the banks are having in profitably employing their funds, have led us to indicate to the British government that the present is a favorable time for it to establish additional credits in America, even tho such credits may not be immediately required.

"Accordingly the British treasury has today accepted the views of the American bankers and has authorized them to proceed.

"The British treasury has of late renewed its shipment of gold to this country upon a large scale. This continued influx of the metal has caused some concern in the banking community, and it is believed that the issuance of the proposed loan will tend to cause at least a temporary cessation in gold imports."

Final details have not been arranged, but the notes to be issued will be "amply secured by high grade collateral."

ATTACKS PARTIES; NOT CANDIDATES

Prohibitionist Claims Parties Responsible for Silent Attitude of Men on Liquor Question.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 25—Ira Landrith, the Prohibition vice-presidential aspirant declared today that Wilson and Hughes were both excellent gentlemen and that he did not care who won the presidential race. Landrith attacked their parties, however, declaring they were responsible for the silent attitude of their candidates on the liquor question.

"Both of these gentlemen are excellent gentlemen, and the country won't be in grave danger with either of them in the white house," he said at Wilkes Barre. "Both are preachers' sons, they act alike and think alike, and so I know they are all right. I don't care whether Wilson or Hughes wins.

"But their parties are not all right. They are silent on the liquor question and they make their candidates silent. If you can vote the straight Republican or straight Democratic ticket all the time and remain decent, then you're a moral acrobat."

J. Frank Hanly, the Prohibitionist's presidential candidate today devoted himself largely to the scope of his party platform laying particular stress on its favorable attitude toward woman suffrage a world peace court and a revised tariff.

TAFT ADDRESSES RAILROAD MEN

Attacks Adamson Bill and Speaks in Behalf of Hughes.

Huntington, Ind., Oct. 25—William H. Taft, speaking in behalf of Charles E. Hughes' candidacy delivered tonight an attack on the Adamson bill before a crowd made up largely of railroad men. This is a division point of the Erie railroad. J. J. Heavey, chief of the local division of the Order of Railway Conductors, introduced Mr. Taft.

Mr. Taft was cheered when he asked why it was, if the bill was not passed under duress that better hours and wages were not granted to the hundred of thousands of railway workers who were not threatening to strike.

TAX FIGURES.

During the campaign of 1912 the Hon. E. F. Dunne in his campaign speeches decried and criticised severely the Republican State administration for its extravagance and our high taxes.

Morgan county residents paid $177,518.30 state taxes the last three years of the Deneen administration. For the last three years under Gov. Dunne's Democratic administration in this county the people have paid $311,708.71 state taxes.

Think of it—Gov. Dunne's Democratic economy — about which he talked four years ago —has cost Morgan county $44,730.13 a year.

Eight miles of concrete road every year and a tubercular sanitorium and soldiers' monument thrown in would not have cost more. Which do you think will do you the most good, Mr. Voter, have the money in your pocket or turn it over to Democratic politicians?

Vote for Frank O. Lowden for Governor—vote the Republican ticket straight November 7th.

Mr. Ford's Adviser.

Henry Ford gave justice to the women employes in his great factory when he decided to give them equal pay with men for equal work. The announcement of the increase is coupled with the still more interesting information that the increases were approved by President Wilson. Mr. Ford is fortunate in having the ear of the president when he wants advice about running his automobile factory. Of course the fact that the president's name is connected with the wage increase just before election is a mere happening.

Rippling Rhymes
By WALT MASON

CANDIDATES

My whole attention I am giving to meet the rising cost of living. It keeps me hustling like the dickens to buy the liver, spuds and chickens to feed the wife and children twenty, and see that they have shoes a-plenty. The transient hours are swiftly moving, and all of them I'd be improving; I'd keep on humping, ever harder, that hams and pies may stock the larder. So I'm not cordial to that smarty, that office-hunting, windy party, who interrupts me when I'm toiling, to tell how politics is boiling, explaining how this jaded nation can never find its true salvation until to something he's elected, and his antagonist rejected. I'd never vote for any fellow who comes and shows his streak of yellow by boring me when I am earning the stuff to keep the furnace burning. When at the polls in bleak November, you bet I always will remember, the candidates who did the spieling, and I will help them hit the ceiling.

Argentine Corn.

Argentine corn, placed on the free list by the Wilson democratic administration, is reaching Peoria, the center of the corn products manufactures in immense quantities. More than a million bushels of this South American corn has already reached the markets in the corn belt and it is reported that an unbelievably large quantity is on its way.

Central Illinois farmers past whose front doors the Argentine corn trains are passing toward Peoria and other corn products centers must now sell their corn crop in competition with this South American corn admitted free of duty by the democrats. So long as prices of corn remain low there is not much competition from Argentine corn but when corn prices rise our Illinois corn growers must sell their corn in competition with Argentina—when corn is low in price our farmers must sell at small profit or even a loss, and when the price of Illinois corn reaches a point where it is really profitable to the corn grower in comes the Argentine farmer—by invitation and permission of the Wilson administration and without paying for the privilege —and takes part or all of the profit which rightfully belongs to the Illinois corn grower—the Morgan county farmer.

A Declaration for Mr. Hughes.

"Hang Him"

This is the prevailing sentiment in Democratic headquarters regarding Brig. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, Judge Advocate General of the Army, because General Crowder has rendered an official opinion declaring that the United States is "at war." General Crowder was compelled to render this decision because there arose the question of whether American soldiers who committed crimes in Mexico should be turned over to the local courts for trial or should be tried by military court-martial, in accordance with the provisions of the articles of war for "a state of war." After reviewing the facts, General Crowder decided that the United States is at war with Mexico, having invaded its territory by force, etc., even tho this country has not formally declared war on Mexico, and that consequently American soldiers guilty of infractions of the law shall be tried by court martial. The intense indignation of the President and his political managers grows out of the fact that he thus makes a mockery of the chief Wilson slogan, "He has kept us out of war," and that whenever a Democratic spellbinder makes the claim he is likely to be confronted with General Crowder's opinion. Friends of General Crowder, altho aware that he rendered this opinion only in the line of duty, are concerned about his future, as they recall that in every instance where a high ranking naval officer has, even under oath, stated facts unwelcome to the Wilson administration he has been punished on some pretext or other, sooner or later. Admiral Fiske being the most notable example. Of course this condition has not prevailed in the War Department, under Secretary Garrison, but Secretary Baker is a man far more after Woodrow Wilson's own heart than was Mr. Garrison.

Since the number of automobile owned locally and in the territory adjacent to Jacksonville has constantly grown the question of parking cars in the business district is daily becoming one of greater importance. There will probably be only a few days during the remaining months of this year and the early part of 1917 when more parking space is needed, but that will not be true when the spring days come, and one of the problems the city council faces is making the necessary arrangements. The council is not unaware of the situation and various plans are in mind.

A well known merchant has suggested a plan which is followed in some other cities. Space might be marked off adjoining the street car track around the square where cars could be placed and this would leave the remaining space for moving cars and horse drawn vehicles. This plan is followed successfully in Nevada, Mo., where the square is just about the size of that in Jacksonville and the central space occupied by a court house. There a space is reserved for both teams and automobiles. On some busy days recently there have been so many automobiles standing in front of the stores that a farmer who drives up with a team to secure goods purchased has difficulty in attracting attention of the storekeepers.

The plan most favored for securing parking space is to utilize portions of the park adjoining the curb. This might be done by concreting the surface to be used, or simply by cutting down the curb and so reducing the grade that cars could be backed to the ground thus reserved. The problem is one which affects the business interests as there is a desire to afford visitors from rural districts every posible convenience, and therefore, some early solution is desirable.

The Rate Case Compromise

Some details remain to be worked out but the indications are that the compromise stipulation in the Jacksonville rate case which was outlined at the conference in Springfield Tuesday will soon be signed by the petitioners, Dr. Bowe and Dr. Baker, and then filed with the utility commission.

The compromise proposal is wholly in line with the facts agreed to a few days ago by the company and the petitioners, but the company's showing as to the cost of coal was surprising. At the hearing in this city last Thursday it was suggested that the increased cost of coal this year for the company would probably be 20c a ton, whereas the figures made by the company and inspected by utility commission accountants show an increase of 44c a ton.

These figures are surprisingly large, the correctness is not questioned and the company representatives have expressed their entire willingness to have the commission or the city go over their records and check the figures. In fact, they want this done so that the public will have a thoro understanding of the situation.

Aside from the mere question of securing lower rates for the service in Jacksonville the compromise proposal is important in that it carries with it a settlement of paving questions and any other matters about which the company and the citizens have had disagreements. In view of all these facts and because of the especial advantage of putting an end to legal strife between the city and the company, it is desirable that the stipulation be signed and agreed to. The rates in some instances are not as low as have been accorded by the company in some other cities, but in fairness to the company it must be recognized that where there is larger consumption of gas and electricity the production cost is lower.

The end of disputes between the company and the city will be helpful to the whole community and should result in closer working relationships among the business interests of the city for the common good of Jacksonville. We need in this city a greater community spirit and the compromise settlement will be a contribution toward the influence which will secure it.

Chicago News for Hughes.

The steady drift of public sentiment toward Charles Evans Hughes, Republican candidate for the presidency, has been evidenced in a notable way by the Chicago Daily News. This great newspaper — non-sensational, non-political but strong and conservative —has just declared in its editorial columns that for the safety of the nation and the integrity of its institutions the people should give their support to the Republican candidate.

The News supported Mr. Wilson in 1912 and a study of its record shows that in each campaign the owners of the News have not been swayed by any personal or political influence but have advised readers as to the best action to take at the polls, based upon a sincere and earnest study of conditions. The News reaches hundreds of thousands of homes in Chicago and vicinity and the effect of the editorial will be to bring before a great army of readers the reasons why an influential independent newspaper deems it a duty to give all possible support to Mr. Hughes.

NOTICE OF EXAMINATION.

The examination for teachers' certificates will be held in the office of the county superintendent, Thursday and Friday, November 9 and 10. All persons wishing to take the examination are required to file application blanks. Saturday, November 4, will be the day for filling and filing blanks. For further information call on or write H. H. Vasconcellos, country superintendent of schools.

Miss Tillie Schirz returned to her home east of the city last evening after an extended visit with her sister, Mrs. James Zink of Lancaster, Ohio.

LIGHT COMPANY COAL FIGURES TO BE CHECKED

If Statements Made Are Correct Then Petitioners in Rate Case Will Sign Compromise Agreement.

The compromise proposition in the Jacksonville rate case was the theme of considerable discussion in Jacksonville yesterday and the concensus of opinion seemed to be that settlement is desirable. The view was expressed that settlement would be wise even if the public was not thus securing as low rates for gas and electricity as they had hoped for. There are other things at stake, it is recognized, than the mere matter of rates and many citizens hold to the opinion that settlement of pending litigation is just as important to the welfare of the city as the securing of lower rates.

Litigation Would Last Long.

There is every reason to believe that without a settlement the cases now pending would be fought out thru the courts and this would take years of time and cause the expenditure of very large sums of money. There would be the uncertainty as to the result after spending the time and money. With such suits pending it is very likely that paving work on West State, East State and South Main street would be interfered with for a period of years. As the pavements on portions of these streets are already nearly impassable, it is easy to understand what the condition would be after a period of years without repairs or replacing.

Dr. Edward Bowe and Dr. E. F. Baker, petitioners in the case, must sign the compromise stipulation if it is to have the approval of the utility commission. Dr. Baker spent some time in the offices of the Jacksonville Railway and Light company Wednesday, where he inspected some of the books which were placed at his disposal by Supt. Gray. It had been the statement of Supt. Gray that the company desires an investigation of the books on the part of the petitioners so that the statements made by the company with reference to the increased cost of coal may be verified. The company is confident that figures presented showing an increase price this year of 44 cents a ton are correct. Should further investigation prove that some error has been made the company will cheerfully acknowledge this fact.

Figures Will Be Checked.

Dr. Bowe and Dr. Baker are both willing to sign the stipulation after a competent auditor or engineer has gone over the company's books and checked up the figures which were summarized in the statement showthe additional cost. Not until this has been done are they willing to sign the stipulation. In Springfield Tuesday the utility commission accountants checked over the information furnished by the company and declared that the figures presented showed the increased coal cost as stated. The experts further said that on the basis of these figures the total increased cost was approximately $9,000 and that the suggested increase of the so-called Fischer rates would raise practically $9,000.

It is very probable that Dr. Bowe and Dr. Baker will today perfect their plan of having the company's books and records checked for the information desired.

MORTUARY

Mallory.

Henry Clay Mallory died at his home, 225½ South Main street, Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock of paralysis.

Deceased was the son of James and Arra Mallory and was born in Paris, Mo., October 26, 1858. His parents came to Jacksonville when he was a child and this place has since been his home.

He was united in marriage to Geereta Gardner. To this union one child was born, who died in infancy. He is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Jane Mason Alton, Mrs. Ellis Moore, Mrs. C. M. Sharpe and Mrs. Emma Williams, Jacksonville; Mrs. Ella Stanford, Peoria; Edward, Frank and James Mallory, Jacksonville, and William Mallory, Kansas City, Mo.

For many years Mr. Mallory had been a member of the Odd Fellows, joining that order in Chicago. As a citizen he was among the best and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Always kind and obliging, the great purpose of his life was to do good whenever and wherever opportunity presented itself.

As a Christian his life was exemplary. There was never a doubt concerning his religious devotion. He loved his Master and exhibited the spirit of his Lord by going about doing good.

His departure leaves a void that can not be filled and his memory will be a benediction to the many friends who loved him for the nobility of his character and for his generous disposition.

"Fading away like the stars in the morning,
Losing their light in the glorious sun;
So shall we pass from this earth and its toilings,
Only remembered by what we have done."

Funeral services will be held from Mt. Emory Baptist church Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in charge of the Rev. Enos Larkin Scruggs. Burial will be in Jacksonville cemetery.

SEEK TO MAKE PROPERTY TRANSFER POSSIBLE

Suit Filed in Circuit Court Asks for Ruling Affecting Passavant Hospital—Title Can Not Be Transferred Under Existing Conditions.

A suit has been filed in the circuit court by Kirby, Wilson & Brockhouse in behalf of the Association for Works of Mercy of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Illinois directed against John A. Ayers et al. The defendants are all heirs of the late Mrs. Eliza Ayers and the proceeding is of an entirely friendly character and for the purpose of meeting certain legal requirements with reference to the title of Passavant Memorial Hospital property.

History of Property.

This property once belonged to Mrs. Eliza Ayers, mother of the veteran bankers, M. P. and A. E. Ayers, and by her was given to the Association for Works of Benevolence and Mercy of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Illinois, to be used for benevolent purposes. Many here will remember Sisters Louise and Caroline, the first ones in charge. After them Sisters Mary, Elizabeth, Margaret and many others. These sisters take no vows and are morally free to leave the sisterhood when they choose and as a result they did so and not enough took their place to enable the work to be carried on, and so others were employed to take their places.

This was not wholly satisfactory, so the plant was turned over to the Protestant churches of Jacksonville as their especial work and they accepted the trust something like eleven or twelve years ago, organizing under the laws of the state with regular officers. The property was leased to the home organization at a dollar a year and the work has gon on as all know.

Legal Obstacle to Transfer.

Then came the need of a new building and the home organization hesitated to raise money to build on the ground of another corporation, so the owners said if the home corporation would raise money for a new building the property would be deeded to them for a dollar. When the matter of transfer was investigated by able counsel, Judge Edward P. Kirby, it was found that the law did not permit trustees to deed property to another body under such circumstances. The only way the transfer can be accomplished will be for the present owners to go before the circuit court, state their inability to carry on the work for which the property was originally given and ask the court to appoint some other organization to take the property and continue the work as originally intended by the donor.

The hope and expectation are that the court will take cognizance of the local body which is now carrying on the work and will appoint it instead of the present owners of the property of the local organization.

The defendants mentioned in the bill are John D.Ayers, Walter Ayres, Helen A. Bullard, Edward A. Ayers, Effie A. Kaime, Marshall R. Ayers, Horace D. Ayers, Alexander A. McDonald, Laura L. McDonald, Marshall P. McDonald, Helen A. Craig, George A. Moeller, Sydney D. Moeller, Florence A. Raynor, Annie R. Alexander, Augustus M. Ayers, Grace D. Ufford and P. J. Lucey, as attorney general of the state of Illinois.

FIRST RETALIATION AGAINST HOYNE

Healy Assigns Policemen of Own Choosing to State's Attorney's Office.

Chicago, Oc. 25—First measures of retaliation against Maclay Hoyne, state's attorney for his raid on the city hall were taken tonight when Chief of Police Healy wih the approval of Mayor Thompson recalled the 25 policemen who had been assigned to Hoyne's office and replaced them with eight policemen of his own choosing.

Hoyne's raid on the city hall, on the Sportsmens' Club of America, his application for the arrest of Healy and finally the indictment last Monday of Healy and others were previous chapters in the fight between Hoyne who is a Democratic candidate for re-election and Mayor Thompson, Chief Healy and others of the city administration who are supporting Hoyne's opponent.

Deceased Was at One Time Pastor of Baptist Church Here.

Mrs. I. C. Coleman has received word of the recent death of Rev. H. W. Tilden of Brookings, N. D. Some eighteen years ago the gentleman was pastor of the Baptist church of this city, and though here for a comparatively short time, won the esteem of a large circle of friends and parishioners. He was a soldier in the civil war, a man of fine education and excellent ability and withal possessed a kind heart and generous disposition. He and his wife were about to start for Southern California when he was stricken with that dread scourge, pneumonia and passed away after a brief illness. He left a wife but no children.

FELL FROM LOFT; HURT; THEN WELL

How a Man Who Landed On Wood Pile and was Sore from Head to Foot Found Quick Relief

Once upon a time Edwin Putnam, who lives in the quiet, pretty hamlet of Wendel Depot, Mass., climbed up into a loft to get some building material, just as many another man living in the country must often do. Suddenly he slipped and fell. Ten feet below was a pile of wood, knotted and gnarled. It was a nasty tumble, and Mr. Putnam was injured painfully in the back, he was covered with bruises, and was sore from head to foot.

The next day he bought a bottle of Sloan's Liniment which had been recommended to him. Within a very few hours the soreness had vanished and the lameness had disappeared. He was an active man once more.

Sloan's Liniment can be obtained at all drug stores, 25c, 50c and $1.

IS NEW MLITARY LEADER IN MEXICO

from the Chihuahua penitentiary on his recent raid.

Some of the reports of the alleged disaffection within the Carranza administration have gone so far as to express fears for the safety of the first chief himself and intimate that his removal from Mexico City to Queretaro was under circumstances controlled by General Obregon.

Brand Report as Absurd

Carranza representatives here, however, brand that as absurd. In military circles here, it is believed the presence of General Pershing's forces in Mexico has served to keep this new outbreak at arms' length from the border and confidence is expressed that the bandit leaders will not risk operations in a region where they might encounter an American force.

MATRIMONIAL

Bode-Dams.

Friends here have received announcement of the marriage of Miss Madeline Dams and Lewis Bode, both of Chesterfield, which took place Saturday, Oct. 21, in Springfield . The bride is a former student of Jacksonville high school and has here a wide circle of friendship. She is a niece of Charles E. Collins, former superintendent of schools, and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dams of Chesterfield.

The groom is a farmer by occupation and is a young man of industry and of good report. Mr. and Mrs. Bode will make their home on a farm near Chesterfield.

ANNIVERSARY SERIES AT CENTENARY CLOSED

Dr. F. A. McCarty Speaks Wednesday Evening, Visioning Great Things for the Church of the Future.

The closing service of the three-day series at Centenary M. E. church in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary, was held Wednesday evening with a good sized audience in attendance. Dr. F. A. McCarty, speaker of the evening, compared the church of today to a sleeping giant. He pictured the possibilities of the church when it shall be fully awakened and shall arise and face the problems before it. Dr. McCarty made especial reference to the obligations and duties of the layman.

After the address by Dr. McCarty brief talks were made by the pastor, the Rev. E. L. Pletcher and some fifteen or twenty of the members present. It was announced that further contributions had been made to the church fund and that the amount announced Sunday had been substantially increased. A brief meeting of the official board was held after adjournment.

Tuesday evening a comfortably filled house greeted the musicians, who appeared in the sacred concert, the second number of the anniversary series.

SUCCESSFUL ENTERTAINMENT.

In spite of threatening weather a good crowd turned out Tuesday night for the entertainment and box supper at Brush College, north, north of Literberry. The three act farce was well given and a good sum was cleared for further school improvement.

CROWDS CHEER WILSON

Martinsburg, W. Va., Oct. 25—President Wilson passed thru here tonight on a special train enroute to Cincinnati where he will speak tomorrow. Many persons were at the station and in response to cheers the president appeared on the rear platform. He refused to make a speech, simply saying:

"It is certainly very delightful to be greeted in this way and it shows that my fellow citizens believe in me."

The train remained here five minutes.

NOTICE K. OF C.

Regular meeting tonight. Installation of officers and other important business. A full attendance desired.

WOMEN EAGER TO HEAR ROOSEVELT

Great Audience Will Greet Former President at Auditorium in Chicago Today.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 25.—Women members of the Republican National Committee were busy yesterday making plans for the elaborate entertainment of Theodore Roosevelt, whose coming to Chicago on Thursday in their belief will be the pivotal stroke of their campaign to get out the women's vote. City women as a whole have been little interested in the progress of the campaign. In every part of the state country women have been eagerly awake to the situation. They intend to vote, all of them, and think they are voting right. In the city women were not so interested, many of them were not for voting at all. Then came the announcement that Colonel Roosevelt will speak to women at a special meeting to be held in the Auditorium, Thursday afternoon, at four o'clock.

In arranging this meeting it was the desire of the women's leaders to accommodate as many working women as possible. Therefore, the hour of speaking was changed from two-thirty o'clock, as first announced, to four o'clock. The seating will be without tickets so that anyone who is interested may attend and have a chance of getting a seat. The doors will be open at least an hour and a quarter before the meeting begins and those on hand at that time will be allowed to take seats at once. When the seats are all full the doors will be closed. If necessary an overflow meeting will be held outside the theater, for it is the plan that everyone who comes shall both see and hear. The entire theatre will be seated, including the stage. The Chicago band will play inside from three until four o'clock, so that the wait for those already seated will not seem so long.

Miss Harriet Vittum, Western Manager of Women's Work, is making plans for the women's part in the reception of Mr. Roosevelt, which will be of the good old campaign kind, red fire, bands and so forth.

CHICAGO MAN GUILTY OF MURDER

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Edgar W. Foster, was found guilty tonight of the murder of Bertha Kubevicz and her five year old son of whom he was thefather and his punishment was fixed at life imprisonment. Foster maintained the woman and their child in the rear rooms of an apartment in which his wife lived with their two children, after convincing Mrs. Foster that the other woman had been a victim of another man. He revealed the story on the witness stand.

BARRED FROM ATHLETICS.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The Cornell faculty committee on student affairs today declared Frank Clary, baseball catcher and captain of the 1917 'varsity nine, A. R. Valentine, 'varsity baseball outfielder, and Clayton Wolford, 'varsity baseball substitute, ineligible for further participation in University athletics because they ar ealleged to have played summer baseball where admission was charged. All three are juniors.

LARGE CROWDS GREET T. R.

North Platte, Neb., Oct. 25—A large crowd greeted Theodore Roosevelt here tonight when he made a ten minute talk between trains. He declared a man who is too proud too fight is not too proud to get kicked and the same is true of nations.

S. W. BLACK DIES AT EARLY MORNING HOUR

S. W. Black, one of Morgan County's oldest and most highly respected residents, died this (Thursday) morning at 3:20 o'clock at his residence, 826 West College avenue. Mr. Black was in his 80th year and had spent the greater part of his life in this vicinity. For more than a year he has been affected with heart trouble and recently has been confined to his home.

Surviving Mr. Black are four children: W. E. Black, near Baylis; C. S. Black residing in this city; Mrs. George E. Baxter, Jacksonville, and Miss Irene Black, at home.

A fuller notice will be made later and announcement of the funeral will be made at a later time.

WILL PROSECUTE ALL ELECTION VIOLATIONS

Indianapolis Man Appointed Special Assistant to Attorney General In Charge of Investigations.

Washington, Oct. 25.—So many reports of election frauds in the middle west have reached the department of justice that Attorney General Gregory today appointed Frank C. Dailey of Indianapolis, former United States attorney general, as special assistant to the attorney general in charge of investigations and prosecutions of election law violations in Indiana, Ohio and Illinois.

Mr. Dailey's designation followed conferences which Attorney General Gregory had with him and with Senator Taggart of Indiana, who made a flying visit to the city. It also follows a mysterious trip of Assistant Attorney General Graham last week, about which information was refused at the department of justice at the time.

Mr. Graham will have charge of the Washington end of the investigation.

Department Issues Statement.

The announcement was made in this statement:

"It was announced at the department of justice today that Mr. Frank C. Dailey of Indianapolis, Ind., formerly United States attorney for the District of Indiana, has been retained as special assistant to the attorney general to take general charge of investigations growing out of reported violations of the federal election laws in the states of Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, and to conduct such prosecutions as developments justify. Mr. Dailey's experience in such matters while United States attorney particularly in the Terre Haute election fraud cases, peculiarly fits him for this work. He will give his exclusive time and attention to the problem and be assisted by the United States district attorneys and investigators of the department of justice.

Department Head Needed.

"The extent of the information reaching the department from many sources makes general supervision in the west by one person essential.

"Assistant Attorney General Graham will be in immediate charge of the Washington end of the investigation."

Neither Senator Taggart nor Mr. Daily was willing to discuss the situation. Reports have been reaching the department from time to time about the possibility of frauds in election for federal offices and special agents have been looking into these, not only in the middle west, but in some places in the east.

It was stated at the department that any Democratic offenders will be dealt with as rigidly as any member of any other party.

A Number of Convictions.

The department officials today pointed to the fact that there have been recently a number of convictions at Terre Haute, that there have been prosecutions in West Virginia and elsewhere, some of them successful and some of them unsuccessful, and that the situation in Michigan has been particularly closely watched at the instance of federal officers, who have been keeping in close touch by direction of the attorney general.

FAMOUS NEW YORK ARTIST PASSES AWAY

William M. Chase Dies at His Home Recognized a Leader In Art Circles

New York, Oct. 25.—William M. Chase, long regarded as one of the famous artists of the country, died at his home here tonight in his sixty-eighth year.

Mr. Chase had specialized in portraits and figure pieces, and had been recognized as a leader in American circles for more than a quarter of a century. For several years Mr. Chase was a student at the Munich Academy. Later he spent a year in Venice and in 1878 returned to America, opening a studio in New York. He first exhibited at the academy of Design in 1877.

He was twice president of the Society of American Artists and was elected a national academician in 1890. He is represented in the Metropolitan museum of art by his "Lady in Black," a full length figure of a slender girl. Among his portraits are those of Rutherford B. Hayes, William M. Evarts and Peter Cooper.

Mr. Chase was married in 1886 to a daughter of Julius Geerson. They had eight children, all of whom survive him.

WILL SPEAK IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Oct. 25—Col. Theodore Roosevelt will deliver two addresses here tomorrow in support of Hughes and Fairbanks.

He will arrive from Denver at 2 p. m. and address a mass meeting for women only at the Auditorium at 4 p. m. In the evening he will address a mass meeting at the stock yards pavilion under the auspices of the Hamilton club. Leaving immediately after for New York.

EXERCISES AT DREW SEMINARY

Madison, N. J., Oct. 26—Founders' Day at Drew Theological Seminary was observed today with exercises in honor of the memory of Daniel Drew, to whose generosity the institution owes its existence. More than ordinary interest attached to the celebration, as it marked the beginning of the seminary's semi-centennial year. The oration of the day was delivered by Dr. S. Parkes Cadman of Brooklyn.

MINERS GET INCREASE

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 25—The coal miners ofthe Georges Creek region today were granted a voluntary increase of 7 cents a ton. The new rate will be 75 cents. Laborers were granted an increase of 25 cents a day.

M'DANIEL TRIAL IS HALTED WEDNESDAY

Accused Prosecutor's Fate Will Not Be Decided Until After November Election.

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 25.—The trial of Oscar D. McDaniel, prosecuting attorney of Buchanan county, charged with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Harriet Moss McDaniel, was halted again today. As a result, the accused prosecutor's fate will not be decided until after the November election, when he is a candidate for the office he now holds.

The new trial, made necessary by a ruling here late today by Judge Thomas F. Ryan, judge of the criminal court, was set for the November term of court, starting on the 6th day of that month.

Judge Ryan's decision was that the venire already empanelled had been influenced so that an impartial trial was impossible by an alleged interview published here yesterday which quoted John T. Barker, attorney general of Missouri and head of the prosecution, as having said:

"The state has been 'jobbed' in the selection of this jury."

McDaniel plans now to continue his campaign for re-election as prosecutor, despite the indictment hanging over his head.

"We have sought at every turn to obtain a speedy hearing," he said. "All the continuances have been granted at the request of the state."

A dramatic interruption came late in the day, when Larry McDaniel, brother of the accused man, who stood in the crowded court room, asked Judge Ryan if he and Attorney General Barker "had conferred secretly" at a hotel last night. Both Mr. Barker and Judge Ryan denied that they had conferred.

SPEAKS TO TROOPS ON SOMME FRONT

Emperor William Visits Soldiers on French Front.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Via London.—Emperor William on his recent visit to the troops on the Somme front in France made the following speech, according to the correspondent of the Tageblatt:

"Comrades, following an impulse of the heart, I have hurried to you from the east front to bring you the greetings of your comrades there and the thanks of the Fatherland for the four months hard struggles on the Somme and for the heroic manner in which you have fought. The world's history knows no parallel for the struggle in which you are participating and for the greatness of your deeds. For centuries the battles of the Somme wil stand as a blazing model for the conquering will of a united people.

"In you, that German will finds expression, under whatever circumstances to prevent the enemy from prostrating us to the ground and to stand firm against French insolence and British stubbornness. From all German regions you stand like a metal wall of German sense of duty and seld-devoted valor, fighting to the last breath.

"On all sides the German people stand in a tenacious struggle against half the world and against the manifold superiority of numbers. Even tho it continues hard and endures long, yet the Lord of Hosts is with you. Those at home have besought him and he has inspired you with strength and courage. Trust in God bravely, feeling that you are fighting in a just cause.

"Thus I greet you, comrades. Hold out, the Lord will give his blessing to the end."

DEMONSTRATE LATEST SURGICAL DISCOVERIES

Clinics At Philadelphia Attended By Surgeons from All Parts of United States.

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—The latest discoveries in surgery from the battle fields of Europe as well as the laboratories and hospitals of this country, were demonstrated in the numerous clinics attended today by the surgeons from all parts of the country who comprise the Clinical Congress of Surgeons of North America in session here.

Discoveries by members of the profession in Europe since the outbreak of the war by which shattered bones are permitted to knit together instead of amputating the limb were referred to by Dr. Edgar B. Martin. Formerly when a compound fracture occurred it was usual to amputate the limb.

Operations for brain tumors to restore the sight and cure paralysis of the limbs of a 16 year old girl and abnormal swelling in all parts of the body of a boy whose petuitary glad was affected were among those performed by Dr. J. B. DeCosta.

The possibility of restoring the functions of the limbs of infantile paralysis victims by implanting healthy nerves in the diseased tissues was forecast by Dr. A. G. Gill, who exhibited rabbits and guinea pigs in which he had successfully made the implantations.

PENNSYLVANIA ALUMNI MEET

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 26—University of Pennsylvania mates who have not seen each other in years, men from all sections of the United States and even foreign parts, are in Pittsburgh today attending the fourth annual convention ofthe Associated Pennsylvania clubs. Today's sessions were featured by the reading of a mass of reports and the relating of progress made by alumni organizations toward the establishment of Pennsylvania scholarships all over the country. The convention will conclude with a banquet tomorrow night.

OUT OF GAME FOR SEASON

Chicago, Oct. 25—Gordon, speedy halfback of the University of Chicago football team, is out of the game for the season. A kick in the ribs during scrimmage today fractured several ribs.

PROPER TEMPERATURE VITALLY IMPORTANT

Best Work of Humans Done in Atmosphere With Temperature from 59 to 65 Degrees.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 25.—Proper temperature is important to the best work of humans, according to Prof. C. E. A. Winslow, professor of public health of Yale University and chairman of the New York commission on ventilation, who spoke here today at the annual convention of the American Public Health association. To do the most work in the smallest period of time a person must be in an atmosphere in which the theremometer registered between 59 and 65 degrees, declared Prof. Winslow.

Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, one of the founders of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, said tonight cancer caused more deaths last year than all the accidents and casualities in the United States. He predicted that cancer would cause 100,000 deaths annually in the United States by 1922 unless the public and the medical profession come to appreciate more keenly the importance of the earliest possible diagnosis of this disease.

"Cancer is essentially a lawless growth of cells in the individual mechanism and the cure of this affliction must, for the present, depend upon a better knowledge of the laws of general health.

NO POST SEASON GAMES.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Major League baseball players not only will be barred from exhibition games, but are forbidden to increase their income after the regular season is over by indoor baseball, basketball or football. This was the answer President Johnson of the American League to the protests of David L. Fultz, president of the Ball Players Fraternity against fines imposed on members for their post-season games.

A FALSE PROSPERITY

Elk Sity, Okla., Oct. 5—Allan Benson, Socialist candidate for president, speaking here tonight, declared the country was not now enjoying prosperity and on account of the present high cost of living, advocated a nembargo on all American products.

"If the Socialists were in power," Mr. Benson said, "this would be brought about by the use of the United States navy if necessary.

TENNESSEE PAPER TELLS OF WOMAN BANKER'S WORK

Nashville Banner, in Special Department, Speaks of Position of Miss Grace McCarty.

"What Women are Doing Worth Hearing About," is the name of a special department conducted by the Nashville (Tenn.) Banner and on the page are taken up the activities of women in many lines of wo an article entitled "The Woman Banker" the Nashville paper says:

"The woman bank official is proving a valuable factor in present day banking systems. Many large banks of the country, are now installing ladies' departments as valuable branches of their business, and it opens a new field of business opportunity for the sex.

"Miss Grace L. McCarty, formerly of Illinois, but now of Memphis, has been spending a few days in the city this week, studying the methods of the ladies' department of the Fourth and First National bank, of which Miss May Selley is the able manager.

"Miss McCarty will be at the head of a similar department to be in augurated in the Union & Planters' Bank & Trust company of Memphis, and before its installation she is making a preliminary study of woman's department methods. The ladies' department of the Fourth and First, one of the pioneers in the south, has attracted widespread attention."

SOME FARM THEMES

Percheron Sale List.

The Tazewell County Percheron association is sending out to interested parties the list of horses that are for sale. At several times during this season the surplus horses have been very closely sold out. There has never been enough available horses at any time this year to get together a sufficient number for an auction sale such as was held a year ago. By canvassing all the members we have secured a list of quite a number that are offered now. Several parties from the west have been in the county recently and several buyers from the east are coming, so that the prospect is for good business the rest of this fall and winter.

We have received letters recently from some of the southern buyers who bought horses here a year ago, expressing themselves as much pleased with their purchases.

Hog Cholera Control.

Outbreaks of hog cholera occurred in several parts of the county this fall. In each case the hogs have been vaccinated and more than the usual care has been exercised in cleaning up the places so that the cholera has not spread very much. With reasonable care, the prospect is that we will get through this season with very little loss from hog cholera.

Seed Corn Demonstration.

The Farm Bureau members have been more interested than usual this year in the problem of picking out desirable seed corn. It is possible to pick out seed corn in such a way as to increase the yield considerably. Tests show that the crop has been increased from three to five bushels simply by discrimination in selecting ears for seed. The man who picks out seed corn in the ordinary way that has been followed for 100 years misses this opportunity to increase his crop. It has also been proven that the crop can be considerably increased by storing the seed corn so as to preserve the vitality and that is the point on which Farm Bureau members are generally exercising great care this year. Last spring's result in the field here was very convincing on this point. The men who followed the best methods known in selecting and storing seed corn got good stands in the fields.

E. T. Robbins, County Agricultural Agent.

Vote "Yes" on Constitutional Amendment.

Farmers of Illinois should remember to vote "yes" on November 7, for the proposed amendment to the state constitution relating to personal property taxation and commonly known as the "Tax Amendment." This reminder is pursuant to a resolution unanimously adopted at Decatur last February at the 21st annual meeting of the Illinois State Farmers' Institute, and reading as follows:

"Resolved: That we recommend the adoption at the next general election on November 7, of the pending Amendment to the revenue article of the Illinois State Constitution in order that the General Assembly may have the necessary authority to revise our revenue laws and adjust unequal burdens of taxation."

The proposed amendment will make no change of itself in the present tax laws but will give to the Illinois General Assembly authority to classify personal property for taxation—an authority granted in the constitutions of 21 other states, including New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Minnesota, Maryland, Virginia, Michigan, Wisconsin, etc. The amendment, if adopted, will remove the restrictions now in the constitution which are responsible for land and visible property bearing a constantly greater share of the total tax burden, and for the escape of intangible wealth, notes, stocks, bonds, etc., because laws cannot now be passed to tax these latter classes of property rigidly and surely and at the same time at a rate which will not confiscate one-third or more of the income.

Other states tax these modern forms of intangible wealth so that they pay in proportion to their ability, deriving large revenues which lessen the share of the burden upon real estate. Double taxation evils which harass the farmer in Illinois, also are largely remedied.

Illinois can profit by none of these modern methods of taxation unless the voters on November 7, vote "yes" for the adoption of the amendment to the constitution. The amendment was drafted by a representative tax commission of which the late A. P. Grout of Winchester was a member. The legislature has submitted the amendment just as it was drawn. It is now up to the voters. A majority of all those voting for members of the general assembly is required to adopt this amendment. The amendment will appear at the top of the "Little Ballot." An unmarked "Little Ballot" counts against the amendment.

Those who believe that it is time to change from a tax system in force since 1818 and universally condemned, and who wish to be sure that the proposed amendment is carried by the people, should mark the "Little Ballot" first of all; mark it "yes" for the amendment, and urge their friends and neighbors to do the same.

IN SOUTHERN FOOTBALL

O. E. Tandy, who returned Wednesday noon from a three-week trip thru the south, brought the following clipping from the Atlanta (Georgia) Journal of Oct. 21, in speaking of the game to be played that afternoon between the University of North Carolina and Georgia Tech.: "In Captain George Tandy North Carolina has a man as much to be feared in southern football as Brinkley was in the east. Those present last year will long remember the drop kick he made from the 45-yard line."

GAVE MUSICAL

A musical was given recently by C. B. Rasby at McCabe M. E. church and the program was of high class. Every number was received appreciatively by the large audience present.

BIDS ARE OPENED FOR NEW BATTLESHIPS

Show Heavy Increase in Prices Due to Abnormal Industrial Conditions

Washington, Oct. 25—Bids for the four new battleships Colorado, Maryland, Washington and West Virginia were opened today at the navy department. While all of the tenders show the heavy increase in prices due to the abnormal conditions of the shipbuilding industry, they were within the department's limit of cost, and it is virtually certain that all four ships will be awarded to private concerns and that the government itself will not construct any of these craft of the twenty destroyers for which offers also were received.

Bids Being Carefully Studied

Prices for the battleships quoted ranged from $10,060,000 to $11,475,000 as against the department's limit for hull and machinery of $11,500,000. A study of the bids is now in progress and awards will be made only after a careful review of the modifications proposed by every bidder has been made. It is believed however, that the Fore River Ship Building company, Quincy, Mass., will get two of the big ships and the Newport News Ship and Drydock company the other two.

There were two other bidders, the New York Ship Building company and William Cramp & Sons, Philadelphia. None of the bidders offered figures for the steam electric drive system of propulsion preferred by the navy department. Offers in this connection provided only for the construction of the ship, the government to supply the driving machinery. For this reason quotations on electric drive ships were approximately $500,000 lower than similar figures for all steam drive.

Will Order Electric Drive Ships

Indications are that the electric drive ships will be ordered. The department was somewhat disappointed at the time of deliveries set by the bidders. Altho completion in 36 months had been asked, 39 months was the lowest estimate made, most of the bidders fixing forty months as the minimum time required because of the crowded conditions of the industries. The department received twenty four offers for the construction of the twenty destroyers, contracts for which are to be let. The limit of cost is fixed at $1,200,000 which again is a decided increase over the limits for the last similar ships contracted for. Bids ranged from $1,150,000 to $1,195,000 each and the time of delivery from 22 to 28 months. The Bath Iron Works of Bath, Me., the Union Iron Works of San Francisco and the Fore River Ship Building company were the principal bidders making offers for four, six and eight vessels respectively. The Cramp company also bid for four boats. The contracts will be awarded among these four concerns as the only other bidder, the Seattle Construction and Drydock company, exceeded the limit of price.

A week from today the department wil lopen bids for four 35 knot scout cruisers and twenty submarines. It is believed that private builders also will get these contracts.

DEBATING WILL BE RESUMED AT J. H. S.

Question Submitted by Knox Association and plans for Early Work On Question Made—High School Notes — Will Discuss Philippine Status.

Debating will be taken up again this year at Jacksonville high school. A question has been submitted by the Knox association, of which the local school is a member. Arrangements have been made in the English department and in the two literary societies to give attention to debating and indications are that the business of preparation will soon be in full swing. The question which will be used in the Tri-Angle league and in every school of the association is "Resolved, that the United States Should Maintain Protectorate relations with the Philippine Islands."

The question of the correct status of the Philippine Islands has long agitated statesmen and politicians and is of particular interest now, since Japan has assumed a more commanding place in world affairs. Some say they should be granted independence while others maintain that possession of the islands should be retained for indefinite time. Non-political thinkers may have found a solution in the protectorate idea.

The debates will take place with Quincy and with Springfield and will be held some time in the early spring. The best debaters from each of the literary societies will meet in preliminary contest and teams will be made up for the inter-scholastic contest.

Musical work at the high school is progressing. The band has for some time been practicing and the orchestra has been working hard.

"The study of Latin in Secondary Schools," was the theme of a profitable address at the chapel hour on Wednesday morning by Dr. Rollin H. Tanner, head of the classical department at Illinois college. Dr. Tanner summarized the reasons why the student should elect Latin.

ARMY HORSE HOLDS OLD AGE RECORD

Animal Died Recently at Fort Sam Houston With Thirty Eight Years to Its Credit.

At Fort Sam Houston, Texas there recently died a horse whose age exceeds anything yet reported. He had the unusual honor of being retired by special order of the secretary of war after a continuous service of 24 years. Generally worn out army horses have to be sold according to regulations but an exception was made in regard to "Foxhall." His record was so unusual.

Purchased at San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 11, 1889; received into service and assigned to light battery K, First Artillery, Sept.. 1889; transferred to Light Battery F, Fifth Artillery in the early part of 1889; transferred to Light Battery F, 3rd Artillery, Nov. 1896. Served with Light battery F, 3rd artillery, during its term of service in Cuba and Porto Rico, from July 8, 1898, to Nov. 27, 1898. Transferred to chief quartemraster at Ponce, Porto Rico, Nov. 1898 and shipped from Ponce, Porto Rico, to Ft. Myer, Va., in 1899 and reassigned to light battery F, 3rd field artillery, and shipped from Ft. Myer, Va., to Ft. Riley, Kas., same year. Served at Ft. Riley from May 1900 to Nov. 1905. Marched from Ft. Riley to Ft. Sam Houston, exis with Sixth battery, Field artillery, Nov. 14, 1905, to Jan. 16, 1906, a distance of 100 miles. Duty with battery A, field artillery since Jan. 1906 at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas.

During the latter part of 1904 and all of 1905 Foxhall was used at Ft. Riley to haul supplies from the commissary's and quartermaster's storehouses and the post bakery to the battery kitchen nd would make these rounds daily without rider or driver. Being hitched to his cart he would proceed to the battery kitchen; thence to the commissary; thence to the butcher shop; thence to the bakery and finally back to the kitchen. At each place he would back his cart to the door of the building without assistance. At the bakery the post baker usel to give Foxhall a piece of bread and the old horse would hardly be induced to leave until he had his morsel.

He was attached to Battery Third Field artillery and remained with that command as long as he lived. He was twelve years old when bought, served 24 years and was on the retired list two years. After he was past work he would climb from the stables to the battery kitchen for a morsel of bread each morning. A partial paralysis greatly troubled him and finally a bad cold so disabled him that as an act of mercy he was put out of his misery greatly to the sorrow of the soldiers who loved him tenderly—but knew it was best.

MRS. BALDWIN BURIED HERE WEDNESDAY

Many Attend Funeral Services for Former Resident Who Died in Peoria.

Funeral services for Mrs. Dan Baldwin were held from the residence of Miss Sarah Baldwin, 329 South Clay avenue Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in charge of the Rev. M. L. Pletcher, pastor of Centenary church . Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Rapp, Miss Myrtle Larimore and W. W. Gillham. The flowers were cared for by Mrs. Albert Baldwin, Miss Sarah Baldwin and Mrs. A. W. Baldwin. Interment was in Diamond Grove cemetery, the bearers being S. D. Shepherd, Richard Butler, A. C. Reid, Clarence Shepherd, William Wolfe and Samuel Butler.

The pastor took for his theme, "The Tent and the Mansion," basing his remarks upon 2 Cor. 5:1, "For we know that if the earthly house of our tabernacle be dissolved, we have a building from God, a house not made with hands, eternal, in the heavens." The quartet sang, "Jesus Savior, Pilot Me" and "Abide with Me."

The following obituary was read by the pastor in the course of the service:

"Stella McCoy was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, and passed from this life at her late home in Peoria, Ill., aged 42 years. February the 17th, 1892, she was married to Dan. Baldwin of Jacksonville, Ill. They made their home in this city until the spring of 1904 when they moved to Galva, Ill., find then to Peoria spending the remainder of their married life in these cities.

"Early in life she was converted and joined Centenary Methodist Episcopal church. When they left Jacksonville they took their Church letters to Galva where her membership was at the time of her death. Tho taken in the midst of life Sister Baldwin had lived a life full of activity and many experiences both sad and joyful. She loved her home and appreciated it more perhaps as she had no near relatives except on her husband's side of the family. She has not been well for many years but her last and fatal attack lasted only few days.

"As the end drew ner she called her husband to her side and said tenderly, "Goodbye Dan, be good," and with this last message she fell asleep to awake in the morning of the Resurrection when we shall know and understand all that was denied us here. Besides the husband she leaves many old friends not only in Jacksonville but in every place where they have made their home."

"The Guests of God" verses by Mary F. Butts were read:

"Why should we wear black for the guests of God?"—Ruskin.
From the dust of the weary highway,
From the smart of sorrow's rod,
Into the royal presence
She is bidden as a guest of God.
The veil from her eyes is taken,
Sweet mysteries she is shown,
Her doubts and fears are over,
For she knows as she is known.

For her there should be rejoicing
And festival array,
As for the bride in her beauty
Whom love hath taken away.
Sweet hours of peaceful waiting,
Till the path that we have trod
Shall end at the Father's gateway,
And we are the guests of God.

DUCKS MORE PLENTIFUL

So many ducks have been flying over Jacksonville the past few nights that sportsmen are beginning to plan early expeditions to the river. A telephone inquiry to Meredosia yesterday brought the information that there are no ducks in that vicinity. There are many feeding near Beardstown and in the territory around Bath. The fall duck shooting season extends to December 15.

WISCONSIN PLAN MODEL IN ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS WORK

Campaign of Education In That State Brought People to Realization of Disease Menace—Good Beginning Made in This State.

In the campaign for the establishment of a county sanitarium in Morgan county for the treatment of tuberculosis those in charge are referring in the main to the "Wisconsin Plan." Wisconsin has given more attention probably to the treatment of tuberculosis than any other state in the union.

Therefore the methods followed in Wisconsin will naturally be of interest locally. The "Crusader" published by the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis assocaition has some facts which it seems are applicable to this community.

Otto Bradley speaking of the plan says, "the organized, educational campaign which has been responsible for the great progress made in tuberculosis work in Wisconsin was planned by men of vision and imagination. Instead of immediately attacking the first outposts of the enemy with all their energy, they laid out an intelligent, comprehensive plan of action which took into account all of the forces of the enemy and contemplated their ultimate, complete annihilation."

Then Mr. Bradley gives other details of the work in Wisconsin and among other things he gives the plan of operating county institutions. He says, "The plan of county institutions with the state subvention is known as 'The Wisconsin plan' the world over. For each tuberculosis patient cared for at the county's expense the state refunds to the county five dollars for each week's maintenance. This is an equitable division of the burden between the county and the state. The provision also has been effective in encouraging the counties to provide sanatoria to care for their consumptives."

While the law in Illinois has not been worked out to the degree of perfection that prevails in Wisconsin yet a good beginning has been made. So far the legislature has made provision that gives counties the right to vote on the establishment of sanitariums. Those who had charge getting this law on the statutes realize that many changes can be made to make the law better. However, the adherents feel that a great step forward has been made in the combating of tuberculosis in Illinois.

The question of the establishment of a tubercular sanitarium will be submitted to the voters of Morgan county at the November election. It is one of the best measures that has ever come before the people. Every voter should see to it that the judges give the ballot which carries the proposition. Then vote YES an Morgan county will be able to figh intelligently the greatest menace of the age.

WAVERLY TEAM CRIPPLED.

Waverly's chances for holding the Jacksonville High School's foot ball team to a close score in Friday's game have been considerably lessened on account of injuries. Waverly has two of her backfield men suffering from bad ankles, and it is doubtful if they will be able to get into the game. But the team is determined, to put up a hard fight in an effort to keep the scor ea close one. In the game at Jacksonville early in the season Waverly lost to the heavier and more experienced local team by a top-heavy score. So far Jacksonville has lost only one game while Waverly has lost two.

Mrs. Walter W. Goltra will leave Friday morning for her home in Houston, Tex., and will stop enroute for a brief visit with friends in New Orleans, La. Mrs. Goltra has for the past few months beea guest of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Sperry.

OLD JACKSONVILLE

Jacksonville Female Academy.

By Ensley Moore

Member Illinois State Historical Society.

Jacksonville Female Academy was the first school for higher education of women established west of Ohio.

Women of today have little idea of the general indifference to proper consideration of the higher life of their sex in the earlier days of this country.

Men found it difficult to get a liberal education in the United States at the beginning of the nineteenth century, and women had no great schools then . It is a singular fact, in view of their present opposition to the use of strong drink, that the first college for women was established by Matthew Vassar, a brewer. But that action shows that Mr. Vassar was a man above his trade, altho when he learned it, the present view on the drinking habit did not obtain.

Mrs. Ellis.

The Academy dates its beginning properly from the devotion and labors, as well as intelligence of Frances Celeste Brand Ellis, wife of the Rev. John M. Ellis.

They were alike fired with a zeal for Christian education, and the unlift of their race, and their names should ever be written first among the citizens of Jacksonville.

"The Academy was not opened to the reception of pupils until two years after the organization of the Board . A private school for young ladies, however, had for several years been kept by Mrs. Ellis, wife of Rev. Jno. M. Ellis, who measurably supplied the needs of the community, and tho never having any organic connection with the Academy, may properly be regarded as the precessor of it, and as having had not a little to do with stimulating the enterprise and moulding public sentiment in its favor. Mrs. Ellis was a woman of high character and culture, zealously devoted, as her husband, to the cause of education, and eminently qualified to give instruction and in other respects to manage a boarding school." She died of cholera in 1833.

Organizing.

Organization of the school began Sept. 29, 1830, when "a meeting favorable to the establishment of a Female Seminary in the town of Jacksonville, was held in the house of Mr. John P. Williamson." That was the brick house last occupied by Edward R. Elliott, at the south east corner of Church street and College avenue.

Hon. Samuel D. Lockwood was called to the chair and Rev. J. M. Sturtevant appointed clerk. A committee, consisting of Judge Lockwood, Mr. Ellis and Prof. Sturtevant was appointed, to report at a later meeting. That was held Oct. 2, 1830. The committee made a report under two whereas and one "Resolved: That an Academy ought to be immediately established in this state, to be devoted to female education; and that Jacksonville, in Morgan county, is, in our opinion, a situation highly favorable for the successful operation of such an Institution." And the committee was eminently correct in its opinion, as time has shown.

It is to be remembered that in 1830, except Springfield, there was no considerable town in Illinois, north of Jacksonville, except Gelena, a mining place.

The first Board of Trustees was chosen at this meeting of Oct. 2, 1830: Bezaleel Gillett, Joseph Duncan, David B. Ayers, Dennis Rockwood, Jno. M. Ellis, Elihu Wolcott, Geo. Chandler, Joseph M. Fairfield, Jas. G. Edwards, Jno. P. Wilkinson, Samuel D. Lockwood, Ignatus R. Simms and Julian M. Sturtevant. There was among them a future governor, two physicians, a county officer of long standing, an editor of note, a justice of the State Supreme Court, and a future college president, all were leading men. Not such a bad list for a five year old town. Two were Episcopalians, two Baptists, "while the remaining nine were by profession or sympathy at that time, connected with the Presbyterian church."

Dr. Ero Chandler, of whom "honorable mention" has been made before, at once donated the splendid block of ground upon which the school was built. Before this it had a temporary place in Mr. E. T. Miller's house, on Court street, one door east of Church street, north side.

It seems astounding now, but the ignorant people of the state were so afraid of some sectarian or other bad effect of higher education that for several years no charters would be granted to colleges or higher schools. An act of incorporation was finally granted in January, 1835, being approved by Gov. Duncan on January 27. That chartering was obtained by means of the much dispised course of "log-rolling," whereby Illinois College, McKendree, and Shurtleff, with the Academy and another school, were established. Thus the Academy became the first chartered school for women, outside of Ohio, in the region covered by the Ordinance of 1787. The places of Messrs. Ellis, Fairfield, Simms, and Edwards were supplied in the incorporation by Benjamin Godfrey, E. T. Miller, Matthew Stacy and (Judge) Wm. Brown. The two latter being Methodists.

Building.

The old east wing, one story and a half high, besides the basement, was built first . To this Dr. Ero Chandler contributed $150, a large amount for those days. This wing was finished about 1825.

The women of Jacksonville, as usual, had aided in receiving the funds for the work done. The whole building was well planned as to appearance, for those times, and a credit to the town and state. It consisted of the east wing, just referred to, and the two story and a half and and basement, central part, with a wing to the west, just like that on the east. This was completed in 1843. This result being no doubt hastened by Principal Adams' management of the school.

The first opening of the school, May 23, 1833, was in a building on the lot now occupied in part by the Journal office, at the south east corner of State and West streets. A year later the Miller house on Court street was utilized till the Academy building was ready—that is, the east wing.

The Opening.

Thirty one pupils were enrolled on that Twenty Third day of May, 1833. Miss Melindy, who only died a year or so ago, was one of the number.

Miss Sarah C. Crocker came from Boscanon, New Hampshire, as Principal; being recommended by Mary Lynn.

Miss Emily P. Price came next as head of the school, from the same place, beginning May 25, 1835. The school then came into the east wing, and the boarding department was organized. The workshops of Illinois College turned out some of the furniture bought.

John Adams, L. L. D., succeeded Miss Price, as principal in February, 1837.

Incidentally it may be stated that catalogues were issued at an early day, the first, probably, being printed by E. T. and C. Gondy in 1836.

Under Way.

The Rev. Wm. H. Williams succeeded "Father Adams" in 1843, being greatly aided by his accomplished wife.

Miss Lucretin H. Kimball, who had taught under Mr. Williams, succeeded him in 1848, and conducted the institution during the years 1848-49 and 1850-51, the Miss Elizabeth Mead being Preceptress in 1849-50. Miss Kimball became the wife of the Rev. Reuben S. Kendall, of Illinois College.

The Rev. Charles G. Selleck had charge of the school, 1851-57, and Mrs. Phoebe Thompson had it in 1857-8. During Mr. Selleck's term the third full story was put on the central building.

The great teacher, Newton Bateman, L. L. D., was elected Principal, but had hardly taken his place in the fall of 1858, before he was chosen Supt. of Public Instruction by the state of Illinois, which position he took about January first, 1859.

Miss Harriet P. Murdock, the only graduate of the school who ever became Principal, succeeded Mr. Bateman, and successfully finished the year.

Prof. Benj. F. Mitchell came in the fall of 1859 . He was a fine scholar, having been graduated from Bowdoin college, and a Christian gentleman of great piety and gentleness of manner . Mr. Mitchell remained until commencement of 1865, when he removed to Tennessee, where he had formerly taught. He was soon released from his earthly labors, and "entered into the rest which remains for the people of God."

Prof. Gilbert Thayer succeeded Mr. Mitchell, remaining until 1874. The eastern wing of the building was extended and improved during his stay.

Prof. E. F. Bullard took charge the fall of 1874, and maintained the longest, and one of the best managements the Academy had. Prof. Thayer had brought Miss Mary A. V. Sprague here, and she remained for some time after Mr. Bullard came. She was one of the most intellectual, capable and efficient teachers the school ever had. She filled out about a year of Mr. Thayer's time.

Prof. Bullard remained as Principal until 1901, when ill health compelled his retirement. Meantime he had been an alderman of the city, and had married Miss Helen Ayers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Ayers.

Mr. Bullard died in September, 1901.

The curriculum of the Academy was always relatively high, and it was raised as the needs of the times demanded.

The Ending.

Dr. Jno. M. Gillette occupied the position of Principal during the years 1901-3. Previous to his coming $10,000 had been spent in improvements. Then the Academy was merged in Illinois College, being known as Academy Hall. The dormitory of women for the College, and home of the Illinois Conservatory of Music—established in 1870, and taken over some years later by Prof. Bullard.

Considerable money was again spent upon the building adding to its attractiveness and comforts, and it is a delightful place for young women.

In all its history the Academy had many fine women as teachers, among the most learned, perhaps, having been Dr. Jane Scherzer, who came under Prof. Bullard's management, and was Dean of Women in Illinois College. They have uniformly, also, been women of beautiful life and Christian example.

A feature in the history of the institution, not to be overlooked, has been the various and changing Boards of Trustees, which have given their time, and much money to their trust. They are largely entitled to personal mention at this time.

The educational value of the Academy was great not only to Illinois, but to neighboring regions, and the work of the graduates generally, was a continued influence for good.

It was a glorious and beautiful array of girls and young women that trooped thru the halls of the old Academy, and many a heart was captured from the young men of Jacksonville and the students of Illinois College.

In the later years the Academy had much of the time of the Rev. Dr. Livingston M. Glover, of the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Glover delivered the address historical of the school at its semi-centennial, in 1880, this being one of the last prominent facts of his life work. From him many of the points in this article are quoted. He had access to the records of the institution.

Mrs. L. H. Kendall was present, and spoke at the semi-centennial exercises.

No diplomas were given in the earliest days of the school, but from 1845 down graduations were made in due form. There were about 564 graduates, the last class being in 1903.

The pupils of the Academy in the dormitory department, as is well known, attended the services of the First, and afterwards of State Street Presbyterian churches.

It is a long way back to 1830, but who can fail to remember with reverence the name of Frances Celeste Brand Ellis!

TRIBUTE PAID TO WELL KNOWN SOLDIERS

Capt. Alex Smith and Major E. S. Johnson Have Notable War Records.

It is under the two column heading "Two Eminent Citizens of Illinois," that the National Hotel Reporter pays honors to Capt. Alexander Smith o fthis city and Major E. S. Johnson of Springfield. The two men have notable war records and have been on intimate terms of friendship for more than a half century. The newspaper tribute was in these words:

"Chicago was honored last week, by a visit from two eminent citizens of Illinois, both of whom served with valor and distinction in the same regiment during our great Civil War, and both of whom were formerly engaged in the hotel business in their home cities.

"Reference is made to Major E. S. Johnson of Springfield, and Captain Alex. Smith of Jacksonville.

"These two hardy veterans—genial gentlemen, both of them—came to Chicago to attend the annual meeting and banquet of the Army of the Tennessee, and during their stay in the city, they were both the recipients of polite attentions from Manager Vierbuchen of the Palmer House, where they were quartered, and from other old friends, comrades and acquaintances.

"Major Johnson, who formerly ran the Revere House in Springfield, now has the honorable position of Custodian of the Lincoln Monument and Tomb in Springfield.

"Captain Smith occupies a handsome residence in Jacksonville, located near the Dunlap House, of which he was for so many years the successful proprietor.

"Both gentlemen are numbered among the oldest and most highly respected members of the Hotel Men's Mutual Benefit Association of the United States and Canada, and Captain Smith was formerly particularly well known to many of its members from the fact, that he and his estimable wife, now deceased, attended many of the earlier reunions of the great beneficial order."

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hamm of Sheldon Grove were visitors in the city Wednesday.

BAD COLD? HEADACHY AND NOSE STUFFED

Pape's Cold Compound" Ends Colds and grippe in a Few Hours.

Take "Pape's Cold Compound" every two hours until you have taken three doses, then all grippe misery goes and your cold will be broken It promptly opens your clogged-up nostrils, and the air passages of the head; stops nasty discharge or nose running; relieves the headache, dullness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling. Ease your throbbing head—nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Accept no substitute.—Adv.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

They are said to be the first aircraft of this type ordered by the war department for the training of military aviators.

— Young Women Will Aid U. S. In Securing Army Recruits. —

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., OCT. 25.—The United States army authorities here have advertised for women to aid in securing recruits for the army, it became known here today. The advertisement, inserted by Lieutenant Colonel John H. Gardner, retired, who is in charge of the recruit station here, called for "twelve girls for the United States." Colonel Gardner's plan is to secure an uptown store and install an exhibit which will demonstrate the life of a soldier from camp cooking to infantry drill. The young women will be paid $1 for every recruit they secure.

— Abandon Efforts to Shorten Ten Commandments. —

ST. LOUIS, OCT. 25.—Efforts to shorten the ten commandments, as read in the communion service, have been abandoned at the present session of the generation of the Protestant Episcopal church, leaders in the conclave announced today. It was asserted that until the next convention in 1919, at least the decalogue will stand in the prayer book as it is. At a session of the two houses, the domestic mission fields were discussed. The lower house adopted the report of the joint commission on the lectionary, which urged the shortening of many of the Sunday school lessons by the elimination of lessons and passages deemed archaic.

— New York Man Sentenced To Death for Fourth Time. —

ALBANY, N. Y., OCT. 25.—Charles F. Stielow, three times reprieved while under sentence of death for the murder of Charles D. Phelps at West Shelby, March 21, 1915, was re-sentenced by the court of appeals today to be executed at Sing Sing prison during the week beginning December 11. When asked if he could give any reason why the court should not proceed to pass sentence, Stielow rose slowly and in a voice barely audible said:

"I didn't commit this murder."

The only request of Stielow's attorney was that the court postpone the time for the execution as long as possible.

NEW OIL REPORT ISSUED

About October 25 the Illinois State Geological Survey will have ready for distribution a new preliminary report, Extract from Bulletin 35, on the oil and gas possibilities in parts of Saline, Williamson, Johnson, and Pope counties, Illinois. The report will contain a summary of field work recently completed and include maps and diagrams pointing out the geological structure of the area with special reference to oil and gas.

Great interest has been manifested in the work, and it is the desire of the Survey to secure simultaneous delivery of the report to all who are interested in the geology of Illinois. Distribution will be made by mail, and anyone desiring the bulletin should enclose 5 cents postage to the Director, State Geological Survey, Urbana, Illinois.

State Geological Survey Publishes New Reports

Illinois will be kept warm for some time to come. From recent studies which have been made by the Illinois State Geological Survey in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Mines and the Department of Mining Engineering, University of Illinois, it is estimated that in Franklin, Williamson, and Jefferson counties alone, coal No. 6 originally contained 8,732,000,000 tons, of which only 260,000,000 tons, or 2.35 per cent, have been mined. The amount of coal represented by 8 billion tons is equivalent to the total production of the United States to the end 1910. At the present rate of producion and with the present proportion of recovery, this volume of coal would supply Illinois for about 80 years. It is not improbable that there is nearly as much coal available in the other beds as was originally available in coal No. 6. A complete report on the geology and coal resources of District VI is just published as Bulletin No. 15.

Since a large amount of coal is now being purchased on the heat-unit basis, much interest is manifested in the methods of determining the true quality of coals and of comparing one with another. Bulletin No. 3, on the Chemical Study of Illinois Coals, has just been issued by the State Geological Survey, in connection with the agencies mentioned above. The report describes the most recent developments in methods of mine sampling and chemical analysis. It also contains a large number of analyses of coals from mines thruout the State.

Bulletin 3 may be had upon payment of 4 cents postage to the Director, State Geological Survey, Urbana, Illinois. Bulletin 15 will be sent at the parcel post rate for one pound. The two bulletins will be mailed together at the parcel post rate for 2 pounds.

Misses Libbie and Lucy Sturtevant expect to start back today to their home in Kushla, Ala., after a pleasant stay of a few weeks with friends in Jacksonville.

Hughes Makes Appeal to Young Voters of America

Republican Nominee In Brooklyn Address Gives His Idea of Kind of Country Young America Wants.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Charles E. Hughes, Republican presidential nominee, in an address in Brooklyn tonight in which he made an appeal to "the young voters of America," declared that the Republican party had "recovered from the division of four years ago and is ready once more to serve."

The Republican party, Mr. Hughes asserted, "sprang into being at a time of the deepest national peril."

"Preserving the nation it not only abolished slavery, but emancipated the people from the curse of a destroying sectionalism," said the nominee.

After reciting at length what he termed the achievements of the party, Mr. Hughes asked: "What sort of a country does young America, vibrant with patriotism, desire?"

Saying he would endeavor to answer the question, Mr. Hughes continued: "He wants a country respected throughout the world. He wants a country which respects the dignity of its citizenship and thus deserves and enjoys the esteem of other nations. He wants no braggart assertion of power, no policies of aggression, he has no desire for strife. But he desires to have the American flag a symbol of firmness, of a courageous and indomitable spirit, of an intense love of justice, of great strength well organized, but never misused, which secures protection to American citizens in their just rights throughout the world. He must recognize that there is no permanent security for a people which takes counsel of its fears rather than of its principles. Timidity, weakness and changing purpose are feeble custodians either of a nation's honor or of a nation's peace."

Must Protect Our Trade.

If we do not protect our trade, Mr. Hughes declared, it will be constantly menaced and shackled.

"If the lives of our citizens are not safeguarded," said Mr. Hughes, "there will be a continued invitation to slaughter by those whose contempt we have evoked. If we do not protect our own, what a mockery it is to talk about the opportunities for American enterprise throughout the world. How can we use these opportunities if our American engineers, merchants, clerks, salesmen, bookkeepers, representing American interests abroad, are to be left without adequate protection in countries of frequent revolutions or unstable government? We are told by one of the ablest apologists for the administration that it has abandoned our historic policy of full protection to American citizens abroad. This is his candid interpretation not of the administration's words, but of the record. By what authority has our policy been changed? It is a change that has broken a specific pledge to the country. It is a change of policy which ought to mean a change in administration."

System Weak and Inadequate.

The Republican candidate asserted we had been "shockingly lacking" in adequate military preparedness. This was revealed, he added, at the Mexican border, where "we had grave delays, a revelation of a weak and inadequate system, of an army ill-equipped, deficient in rifles, shoes, uniforms and horses." In addition, he said a large number of the men were "physically unfit for duty."

Defense Measures Delayed.

With a world in arms and a Mexican policy provocative of trouble, Mr. Hughes declared, appropriate measures for the country's defense were delayed by the Wilson administration.

"I speak in terms of the highest praise of the patriotism of the guard," said Mr. Hughes, "but I think it a serious criticism of our military organization that we should be compelled to send men from their peaceful pursuits to the Mexican border for police duty because we had not a regular army large enough for the purpose."

Favors a World Court.

Mr. Hughes declared himself in favor of a world court for the determination of "justifiable controversies through which we shall have the advantage of the growth of precedents according to the genius of judicial institutions."

"We also need to perfect the machinery of conciliation with respect to other controversies, he said and to develop international co-operation to secure resort to these tribunals and councils.

No Invisible Government.

"There is an effort to make it appear in some way a vote for me will be a vote for invisible government," continued Mr. Hughes. "I am here talking to my old friends and neighbors who know the circumstances in which I came into public life as well as what I endeavored to accomplish. If I am elected president there wil be invisible government. We shall have no devious or vindictive methods of administration. We shall have no trading in public offices to pay private political obligations. We shall have no bargains, but constitutional government, a government of laws efficiently administered by the most competent men obtainable."

Will Have Rude Awakening.

When the European war ends and the millions in the trenches return to work, Mr. Hughes asserted, America is likely to have a rude awakening from its present "dream of prosperity." The war, he added, has had the effect of a tariff giving American manufacturers tremendous opportunities, with their natural effect on employment and wages, on industry and trade.

Attacks Underwood Tariff.

Mr. Hughest attacked the Underwood tariff, saying that after it went into effect the cost of living went up and the opportunity for making a living went down. If we are to safeguard prosperity when the war ends, he asserted, we must apply the principle of protection to American industry.

"We want the protection not for the sake of protection; not for the mere sake of producing wealth; we want protection primarily to serve as a basis for the American scale of wages and to promote and maintain the American standard of living," declared Mr. Hughes.

Must Improve Our Methods.

"Young America if intelligent and thoughtful can not look with complacency upon low administrative standards," concluded Mr. Hughes. "We can not but wonder at the burden of taxation which those new young men will be called upon to bear in middle life if we do not give closer consideration to the improvement of our governmental methods. Some day we must demand a more business-like administration of the great activities of the federal government, with fewer places for incompetence and less 'pork.'

Should Conserve Our Resources.

"We must conserve our material resources and our human resources. I am in deep sympathy with protection of our children from being drawn too early into industrial struggles.

"I want to see young America trained, educated, physically strong and mentally keen, with every opportunity for the development of their aptitude. Ynung America has the key to the future. What kind of a country does young America want?"

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR, DOUBLE ITS BEAUTY

Try This! Hair Gets Thick, Glossy, Wavy and Beautiful at Once.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain? —that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten cloth and carefully draw it thru your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it surely gete a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.—Adv.

JACKSONVILLE MEN BACK FROM HUNT

Dr. Buckthorpe and E. R. Fraser Spent Three Weeks in Mountains of Montana.

Dr. R. R. Buckthorpe and E. R. Fraser have returned from a three weeks' hunting trip in Montana. They went to the northwest country accompanied by Joseph Hodges, who lives south of the city, and J. W. McBurney, a traveling passenger agent of the Union Pacific. But the tw last mentioned did not remain during the entire time. The sportsmen were in camp near Ovanda, an inland village about fifty miles from Missoula.

The trail by which they entered the mountainous territory was very narrow and all their equipment was sent forward by pack horses. Two experienced guides led the way and a camp was soon established. While extensive traveling was done for the first ten days in search of big game, the men were not very successful and elk and deer were sighted only two or three times. Trout fishing was wonderfully fine and birds and small game easy to secure. At the end of the ten days Mr. Hodges and Mr. McBurney decided to return and the other two with their two guides pushed still further into the wild and mountainous country. Their persistence and enthusiasm was rewarded and they found both elk and deer and succeeded in killing a number of each. There are many bears in that locality, grizzly, brown and black, but none were seen on this expedition altho one day the hunters came upon the bear tracks which could not have been made more than an hour earlier.

While the total kill was not as satisfactory as some other hunting trips on which Dr. Buckthorpe has gone, he enjoyed this visit to the northwest country. He has been going on hunting expeditions in the west country for the past twenty years so is very familiar with all kinds of camp life and game conditions. In Montana he saw some surprisingly fine farm land and his attention was attracted particularly to one field of 160 acres which this year produced an average of 48 bushels of wheat to the acre. A few years ago this land was thought to be of little value and was purchased by the present owner for $1,400.

Last night at Hall's cafe Dr. Buckthorpe entertained a small company of sportsmen at dinner with elk meat as one of the principal items on the excellent bill of fare. The company included Dr. A. R. Gregory, Dr. C. E. Cole, Charlie Magill, Wm. Fairlee, Joseph Hodges, Henry Goebel, Dr. C. B. Sawyer and E. R. Fraser.

"CASCARETS" BEST IF HEADACHY BILIOUS AND CONSTIPATED

Best for Liver and Bowels, Bad Breath, Bad Colds, Sour Stomach.

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter, clogged up in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. —adv.

The Gospel of Fear

One of the most notable editorial utterances that the present campaign has brought forth was under the caption above in the Chicago Tribune Sunday. The editorial in a remarkable way gives answer to the often made statement that courageous leaders who now attack the timid policy of President Wilson would have plunged this country into war.

The effect of President Wilson's theories of government, the apparent and disturbing effect, is found in the breakdown of the American morale. Mr. Wilson took charge of a nation confident of its ability to take care of itself, sure of its courage, and firm in its self-respect.

There was considerable ignorance in this conviction, and some bravado, but there was a confident American spirit, untested by experience or by threat, but nevertheless existing and animating the nation.

Mr. Wilson now appeals to a timid nation. His campaign searches out every defect in American character of which his administration has been the cause. His cries go abroad crying "war, war, war," as if, with that avoided, the decay of spirit, the loss of morale, and the collapse of character were of no consequence.

If Hughes or Roosevelt, indignant at seeing this demoralization of a nation, protest against the processes which are making cravens, the Wilson criers, the land over, raise their voices and their hands and announce the proof of their message of fear. "They would have had you in war."

If this gospel of fear prevails, a trembling electorate will be barely able to control the pencil while it marks the ballot. The shock of the war was staggering enough without a designing political hysteria. The nation needed a collected and courageous leadership. If leadership is anything it steadies and composes a nation in times of such terrible uncertainty.

It emphasizes the virtue of courage. It does not appeal to fear. The Wilson administration, confronted with the dangers and difficulties of the extraordinary times, has dealt with the nation in such fashion that the people seek to determine issues by taking advice from terror and by finding solutions in avoidance.

When a charge of this character, so well established by facts, is made, the critic is damned as a lover of war. There are men who think or believe they think that war is a moral and spiritual tonic. Lord Roberts, it was indicated the other day by the publication of extracts from an essay he had written, was such a man, fearing that the ways of peace were the ways of degeneracy and believing that the terrors of war came as cleansers.

That, it seems to us, is so far from proved as to be grotesque. But this, it sems to us, is certain: A person or a people who will regard a loss of moral character as of less consequence than the loss of material benefits, inclusive of life, has suffered a damage which in the end will entail the loss of the material advantages protected at the cost of character.

We believe that the nation which resolves itself in the opinion that there is one thing too terrible to be considered, no matter if ancient faiths perish and just principles die, and that one thing is physical suffering, is a nation dead when it thinks itself most protected. War m aybe a good thing or a bad thing. Cancer is not a good thing. Tuberculosis is not a good thing. A railroad accident is not a good thing. Typhoid fever is not a good thing. A toothache is a thing to be avoided. But here is the point: Life is not a perfectly rational composition of good acts and intents having as consequence happiness and physical well being. It is a thing which the human being must face with fortitude. In his expectancy must be included some suffering and some sorrow. It is the aim of a rational human being to be prepared by spiritual and mental discipline, by physical fortitude and by courage, to meet the unavoidable misfortunes without whimpering.

If the individual loses the attributes which would enable him to face his future and accept what agonies may come, knowing that some must come, he is lost. The individual does not like to be a conscious, obvious coward. He knows that if he is a conscious coward he has lost his protection. He is not only exposed to the dangers he tried to avoid, but they have taken hideous form in his imagination; they are constantly with him and his craven existence mocks the fact that he lives.

A nation need not think that it can live upon other terms than such as are necessary to self-respecting existence. If it is a terrible thing for individuals to lose fortitude, it is a terrible thing for a nation to lose its fortitude. It is a terrible thing for any man or any set of men to have responsibility for demoralizing a nation. We say that Mr. Wilson is destroying the morale of the American nation. He is doing it, and the Democratic campaigners are doing it in his and their behalf.

They have spread the gospel of fear. And one may verify this by questioning a few citizens, or possibly by a little self-analysis. The United States is not a confident nation. It is an alarmed and timorous nation. It is afraid. Even its bulk and its wealth, its potential but undeveloped strength, do not protect it from its own alarms.

It wants to avoid things, not assert things. It imagines it is idealistic, but its ideals are evaporating. It is traveling in the direction of grossness and cowardice. Its largest political emotion now is one of fear.

The fact that the United States has avoided war is a good thing. The fact that it is having its courage and confidence broken down is a very bad thing. "He kept us out of war" is the most demoralizing political cry that the American people have heard in fifty years. The appeal to fear is the most damaging political appeal that could be made. The Wilson campaign is corrupting the people. It is asking them to surrender fortitude and self-respect.

The people who succumb to this appeal need not delude themselves. They are not only yielding to an absurdity, but they are debasing themselves. By so doing they will not avoid anything which may be in store for the American nation, but they are doing their part to make the American nation wholly unfit to meet what may be unavoidable.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

Princess Patricia of Connaught, who is now on her way back to England after passing five years in Canada, where her father, the Duke of Connaught, was stationed for that time as Governor-General, has been referred to as "the most prominent woman in the war." She was certainly that on the American continent at least, Canada's most famous regiment, the Princess Pats, having been named after her and being under her particular partonage and care. Princess Pat, as she is herself universally known in Great Britain and Canada, is beautiful, vivacious and wilful, and of an independence and originality of mind at times somewhat embarrassing to her royal entourage. Her sprightly criticisms of Canadian society, for one instance, are said to have been at times rather a thorn to her viceroyal papa during his administration.

One of the most interesting "signs of the times" now abroad in the land is Dr. Yamei Kin, a tiny Celestial lady who is lecturing to American clubwomen on "The Women of China." Dr. Yamei Kin is a graduate of the Women's Medical college of the New York Infirmary for Women, and has been practicing medicine in her native country. From France comes another whiff of the same wind: A young Chinese lady, Miss Tohong of Canton, has passed her examinations before the French faculty of Law at Paris, the first Chinese citizen, man or woman, who has appeared before the French faculty. Miss Tohong is twenty-four and took part in the Chinese revolution in 1911. And in connection with the news of the marvelous thirst for education shown by the new women of the Orient, comes an announcement which will rejoice these statisticans who blame the "higher education" for the great number of single women among college graduates in the United States, and for late marriages among this same class of women. Precisely the same tendencies are reported among Japanese women who have "gone in" for an advanced education. Whereas marriages were arranged by families for the young girl at an early age, the epoch of marriage among the cultured has now been advanced nearly a decade, and the bride of twenty-eight, though not yet so frequent as the one of eighteen is by no means a phenomenon.

The recent death of Mrs. Havelock Ellis, wife of the famous English author and herself a writer and lecturer of distinction, recalls the unusual agreement upon which they had founded their marriage, which was to the last a very happy one. Each had his and her separate establishment and Mrs. Ellis always earned her own living, one of her beliefs being that women, married or single, should always be self-supporting. There was perfect equality between the Ellises. Both husband and wife built up reputations for themselves; he through his essays, his studies in criminology and sexology, and she through her works of fiction and through her lectures. She had made a lecturing tour of America but a year or two ago, speaking on the subjects of love and marriage and woman's economic problem in the marriage relation, and spreading in her lectures the ideas which were dear to both herself and her husband and which they had put in practice together.

The second biennial convention of the International Federation of Catholic Alumnae will be held in Baltimore, November 24, 25 and 26, when several thousand convent-bred women from the United States and Canada are expected to gather. The federation was organized in New York city in November, 1914, under the auspices of the American cardinals, and its object is to unite the convent women for the purpose of upholding the ideals of Catholic womanhood and of forwarding Catholic education and Catholic literature. The organization has 175 associations and a membership of about 30,000. The second convention of the federation, called the constitutional convention, was held in Chicago last November, and those in attendance represented a territory extending from Mexico to the Canadian northwest. A feature of this year's gathering will be a day spent in Washington, D. C., where a reception will be tendered the delegates at the Catholic University of America, by Right Rev. Thomas J. Shehan, the rector, and the faculty.

NATIONAL MISSIONARY MEETING

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 26.—The annual convention of the National Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church opened today in the new Hennepin Avenue church and will continue for a week. More than 200 delegates are in attendance from all parts of the country, together with a hundred or more returned missionaries and a number of bishops of the church. The work of the convention will be devoted to a review of the society's efforts during the past year and the consideration of plans for future activities.

The society is one of the largest and most representative of American missionary bodies. It was first organized in Boston in 1869, for the purpose of sending the gospel to the women of all heathendom. Miss Isabella Thoburn of Ohio and Miss Clara A. Swain of New York City were the first missionaries sent out by the society, and they sailed from New York for India in November, 1869. Since then more than 500 missionaries have been sent out. The fields are in Africa, Bulgaria, China, Burmah, India, Japan, Korea, Mexico, Malaysia and the Philippines.

WARNING

"Spitting upon floors, platforms, side or steps of any railroad or railway station or railroad car, street car, or upon the floor or platform, step or walls of any public building, hall, church, theater, market, elevator, in public or private buildings, or upon any sidewalk, or upon any walk in any park or public place, is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor.

"Any person violating the provisions of this ordinance, upon conviction, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by a fine of not less than one dollar, nor more than five dollars for each offence."

This ordinance will be enforced.

GEORGE P. DAVIS,
Chief of Police.

GEORGIA WELFARE WORKERS

Macon, Ga., Oct. 26—Georgia welfare workers, now more or less unorganized has arranged for a three-day organization convention, to begin its sessions in this city tomorrow. The formation of a state board of charities will be taken up by the convention, and it is expected a movement will be started of such proportions that the establishment of such a board will result. Georgia is one of the few remaining states of the Union without one.

KANSAS CITY MARKETS

Kansas City Stock Yards, Oct. 23.—Cattle receipts last week were second largest of any week recorded here, at 87,000 head and 8000 calves and more stockers and feeders were bought and shipped out of here during the week than ever before in one week, the total being 53,592 head, previous record in one week 51,707, about one year ago. Kansas got 15,775 head, Missouri 9951, Iowa 9185, Illinois 6416, Nebraska 6378, Oklahoma 2842, Ohio 927, Indiana, 717, other states 1401. Prices were 15 to 50 lower first half of week, but half of the loss was regained before the close, as demand developed in a surprising way. The run Monday this week was 25,000 head, a big drop from Monday last week, caused in a great degree by shortage of cars at loading points. Much of the supply comes from long distances at this season, and railroads cannot get cars back to loading points within a week hence there is a big run every alternate week. Accordingly a heavy supply is expected next Monday. Prices today are stronger on all classes, killers 10 to 25 higher, stockers and feeders almost as much. Some fancy bred yearlings were offered from New Mexico, selling at $8.35. Prime Panhandles and Colorados $7.75 to $8, middle class stock steers $6.50 to $7.50, common and off color steers, but useful at that, $5.50 to $6.25. A certain class of low grade nondescript steers sell as low as $4.75, and would go lower except that packers take them at that price to put into canned beef. Fleshy feeders sold up to $8.50 Monday, good weighty feeders $7.60 to $8.20, medium feeders $6.50 to $7.25, some plain steers weighing 1000 lbs, Monday at $6. Stock cows and heifers and stock calves accumulated last week, and did not get cleared as good as steers, prices steady Monday at $4.90 to $7.50 for stock cows and heifers, and $6 to $8.25 for stock calves. Immune stock hogs are held firmly, getting support from strong fat hog prices, largely $9.75 to $10. Feeding lambs are selling farther below fat lambs than formerly, most sales $9.25 to $9.65, almost one dollar under fat lambs, apparently an attractive margin.

FOREIGNERS CHECK WHEAT'S WILD ADVANCE

After Jump of Seven Cents at Start Europe Turns Aggressively to the Selling Side—Large Country Offerings Make Corn Weak.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—War torn, starving Europe succeeded at least temporarily today in accomplishing what all the embargo agitation in the United States had heretofore failed to effect—the stoppage of the wild wheat price advance which has been in progress virtually unchecked for nearly four months. After the market here made a fresh jump of seven cents today, Europe not only stopped buying, but turned aggressively to the selling side and forced a setback that offset the greater part of today's upturn in prices.

Sudden withdrawal of British purchasing agents took traders' breath away. Then almost simultaneously the enthusiasm of bullish speculators had to withstand the shock of word that foreigners were selling their holdings both for immediate and future delivery. As some of these holdings had been acquired only yesterday at prices nearly 13 cents below today's top level the bearish influence on the market was electrical.

Quotations came crashing down, and at no time during the remainder of trading was there any lasting rally. The close was unmistakably weak, at net gains of only ⅞c to 2c with December delivery $1.80 to $1.80¾ and May $1.80⅛ to $1.80½.

World shortage in wheat supplies, a deficit estimated by one authority at roughly a billion bushels as compared with a year ago, was the reliance of the traders who were buying at today's high prices, and who chiefly had as a goal $2.00 a bushel, once realized by B. P. Hutchinson ("Old Hutch") in a "corner" in 1888. The only other high price record not excelled today was shortly after the American Civil War when sales were made at $3.10 a bushel. One of the elements in the late decline in prices here was a sudden drop in quotations at Buenos Aires, indicating that perhaps after all the crop outlook in Argentina had taken a turn for the better.

Larger country offerings of corn made that cereal weak at the start and much more so at the finish. In between however, transient upturns took place in the market owing to the temporary strength of wheat. The close was at a decline of ¾c to 2¼c net.

Oats were relatively stronger than corn finishing at only a net loss of ¼c. The main bullish influence appeared to be the unfavorable crop outlook in Argentina.

Realizing sales pulled down provisions sharply after an early advance. Holders seemed in a hurry to unload when cereals began to react in good earnest. The outcome ranged from 95c decline to 7c advance as compared with 24 hours before.

LEADING STOCKS REACT MODERATELY

Trading on Stock Exchange is of Highly Professional Character.

New York, Oct. 25.—Technical conditions, as represented mainly by the extended bull account, outweighed more favorable developments of a general nature in today's active market, leading stocks again reacting moderately after an early period of irregular strength.

The highly professional character of the trading was evidenced by the extraordinary activity of issues having only potential or future value, especially Rock Island & Pacific, which outranked all other stocks on its extreme rise of 7⅝ points to 34¾, with an overturn of 225,000 shares. Early in the month, Rock Island sold as low as 18.

Investment rates were irregular to heavy thruout, pressure being most marked in Reading and other coalers. High records made during the forenoon by the sugars were wholly or partially surrendered later.

Total sales par value aggregated $6,125,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Trying to Blindfold People

From "Minneapolis Tribune."

The great slogan of the Democratic party in this campaign is: "He (Wilson) has kept us out of war;" and by that sign they hope to conquer.

Now, if he has kept us out of war and, in doing so, has done something that should blind us to all the other facts of the situation, let us give him credit for it, for all it is worth. But if he has not kept us out of war in the sense that he has done nothing extraordinary to prevent it, and if what he has done has not been well done, ought we to close our eyes to all the real issues of the campaign?

In the first place, to be kept out of war implies that somebody was trying to get into war. Who was i? Mr. Wilson does not tell us; if he could he probably would.

Of course, keeping out of war does not refer to Mexico. That is understood. Everybody knows we are at war with Mexico and have been off and on for two years or more. There is a sort of truce on now, but we have 100,000 men under arms on the border and 50,000 more on Mexican soil. But this is just the beginning of what we are morally certain to have on our hands a little later as the result of our having destroyed the only constitutionally formed government Mexico has had since this administration came into office. When the European war ends, we will either abandon the Monroe Doctrine and leave Mexico to the mercy of nations who are not indifferent to the murder of their citizens by Mexican revolutionists and the destruction of their property, or we will get busy in Mexico making good to Great Britain, France and Germany for the injuries inflicted upon their citizens while we have been waitfully watching the sufferings inflicted upon our own because of the anarchy and ruin our Mexican policy has brought about.

Never Mind the Cost

But never mind about the war. It can be only a small affair in these days, and doubtless the Democrats would insist that it does not count, altho it is already costing us $15,000,000 a month. No, the Democrats do not care to talk about this war on our Southwestern border. They mean the great European war.

All right. Let us see about that! Anybody here want to go to war with anybody in Europe? Nobody seems to want to. Mr. Wilson has not named anybody who has expressed a desire for war. It must be then, that the idea that anybody here was being kept from going to war is a mistake.

How about the people on the other side? Anybody over there been crazy to go to war with us? It could hardly be Germany. Germany has all the war on her hands now, and has had almost from the beginning, that she can attend to. It would have been silly for her to pick a quarrel with us at any time and turn all our resources of men and money and materials over to the support of her enemies; and Germany is not silly.

The Allies Need Us

And the Allies—have they shown any disposition to go to war with us Not that anybody knows of; nor has there been a time since the war began, nor will there be until it ends, when they could afford to. They need us too badly. We are feeding and clothing them and providing them with munitions. It would be silly for them to go to war with us, cut off their source of supply and all these things which they need so much and carry them against themselves. And they too, are not silly.

Now, if we did not want to go to war, and Germany did not want to go to war, and the Allies did oot want to go to war, what an awful job it must have been to keep us all from doing something none of us wanted to do.

This, of course, is not to say that on account of the war, difficult situations have not arisen. They have. But difficult situations have arisen before when those with whom we might have had trouble were not one-half or one-hundredth part as busy as they are now.

President Monroe's Courage

When, for instance, Mr. Monroe promulgated the doctrine which bears his name, he threw down a challenge to four great European powers at one time—Austria, Prussia, Russia and France, known as the Holy Alliance. But they did not see fit to take it up, altho they had at the time no war on their hands. True, he was secretly, if not openly, backed up by England just as, during the past two years, war by either side against us would have forced us into an alliance with the other, a situation which no European power could view without alarm, and which it would make great concessions to prevent. But Mr. Monroe did not have any war and he was the president of a new country about one-tenth the size of our country today in point of population and still weaker proportionately in resources. Moreover, the Monroe Doctrine was not an assertion of American rights already invaded, but an interposition when the rights of other nations were threatened. President Monroe and his courageous secretary, Mr. Adams, kept us out of war when the menace was infinitely more threatening than it is now or has been at any time since the great war began or ever will be again, if we prepare ourselves properly for national defense.

President Jackson, who, as we have remarked before, reminds us of our present chief executive, because he was so different, caught two Englishmen trying to stir up trouble on our frontier among the Indians and hanged them. And England never courted any ruction with Andrew Jackson.

Lincoln Presented Our Rights

People in Great Britain gave aid to the south and assumed an atitude so hostile to the Union that President Lincoln served notice upon the British government that persistence in that policy would lead to armed resistance. This happened when we were in the midst of our great Civil war, but Mr. Lincoln's assertion of our rights was so dignified, so fearless, and so just, as to command the respect of the British government and win for us an indemnity for hostile acts amounting to fifteen millions of dollars. Tho facing infinitely greater difficulties than have confronted Mr. Wilson, Mr. Lincoln had no war with a foreign power.

The Republican convenion which renominated Mr. Lincoln in 1864 declared in favor of resistance of the effort of the French to gain a foothold in Mexico, where they were supporting Maximillian. We were too busy preserving the Union just then to take any immediate action, but no sooner was the Civil War over than France was notified to get out of Mexico, and she did so, on the jump. This happened during the administration of "Andy" Johnson, who is certainly no heroic figure.

When Mr. Cleveland was president, he served notice on Great Britain, when threatening encroachment on Venezuela, that if it was not discontinued it would be resisted by all the power of the United States. Great Britain sat up and took notice, but there was no war.

A little later Germany, not profiting by Great Britain's experience, in pressing certain claims against Venezuela, adopted an attitude in defiance of the Monroe Doctrine and hostile to our government, whereupon Mr. Roosevelt served upon Germany an ultimatum which would have meant an immediate clash if Germany had not discovered that Admiral Dewey was aboard his flagship ready for action. And Mr. Roosevelt had no war.

As recently stated in these columns, a member of Mr. McKinley's cabinet is quoted as having said in later years that a red hot message to Spain in 1897 would have freed Cuba without war. It is true that Mr. McKinley did not keep us out of war, but the sounders of the slogan, "He has kept us out of war" are not citing the Spanish-American war as something that might have been avoided by Wilsonian policies, because our Mexican war has already cost more lives and the destruction of more property many times over than the Spanish-American war, and we are not thru yet.

Presidents Wilson Resembles

We have not always been kept out of war. We have had two other foreign wars since our independence was established, both of which were brought on during the administration of two presidents, Madison and Polk—whom more than any others in the long list of our presidents, because of their weakness and vocillation, resemble our present chief executive.

Perhaps "He has kept us out of war" sticks in the minds of some people because they think Mr. Wilson is less likely to accept slight occasion for resorting to war, and therefore promises greater security for the future, than Mr. Hughes. If that notion be entertained, it must be where there has been complete oversight of the seizure of Vera Cruz. It was not to redress the wrongs inflicted upon American citizens in Mexico and insure their protection, but because of so comparatively trifling a thing as a salute to the flag, after abundant and abject apologies had been made for the original offense, and from an authority which we refused to recognize as a government, that we seized the port of Vera Cruz and entered upon a course of action which, if it had been directed against any power able to offer resistance, would have resulted in a great war.

So it appears that not only has Mr. Wilson not kept us out of war, but he has betrayed a disposition to rush to arms upon a trifling pretext and then abandon the enterprise without accomplishing the object sought, while his failure to protect the lives and property of our citizens on land and sea and to defend by a dignified and courageous attitude the honor of our country has caused the title of "American Citizen" to be of less conseqyuence around the world today than at any time for more than a century. You may resent the statement but you cannot controvert the fact.

"He has kept us out of war" is a delusion which the supporters of Mr. Wilson would bind like a blindfold over the eyes of the people in the hope that they will not see thru it to the great issues of the hour. Have they got you?

WILL START ON RETURN OCEAN TRIP

Thomas Reynolds Will Sail Saturday For Home in Wales.

Thomas Reynolds who has been visiting his relatives, R. C. Reynolds, Ralph Reynolds and families of this city, expected to start this morning for New York City to sail for his home in Swansea, Wales Saturday. He speaks in high terms of Jacksonville and things in general in and about the place, the west in general and the United States as a whole. He regards this as a grand country of which its citizens should be very proud as it affords wonderful opportunity for any man with health to rise in the world and make for himself a place among his fellowmen.

Mr. Reynolds is deeply impressed with the cordiality that he meets in traveling thru the west and speaks in very kindly terms of the different persons he has met. Everywhere he has found kind treatment and leaves with the best of feeling toward the country of his brother's adoption.

He expresses great satisfaction at being able to sail under the United States flag and thinks it will protect him and the ship on which he sails from submarines and other causes of trouble.

The kind things the gentleman has said may in many ways be returned as he has proved a very affable gentleman, courteous to all whom he has met and ready to answer all questions and give every possible information on any subject in his power.

He hardly has a definite opinion regarding the duration of the fearful war abroad but has no doubt regarding the ultimate triumph of the allies.

FIRS WOMAN TO APPLY FOR PENSION

Newark, O., Oct. 26—Mrs. Mary A. Lovejoy, who is the first woman in the United States to apply for a pension under the new Ashbrook pension law, celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary today at her home in this city. Mrs. Lovejoy was born at Frederick, Md., Oct. 26, 1816, and has been a resident of this section for nearly 70 years. She retains possession of her faculties to a remarkable degree and is able to read the newspapers without the aid of spectacles.

MARRIAGE TO NOBLEMEN NOT ALLURING

Record of International Alliances Show Them Usually Unhappy.

New York, Oct. 26.—Friends of the former Miss Margaret Draper, who has become the bride of Prince Andrea Boncompagni of Italy, are hopeful that her case will turn out to be the exception that proves the rule. Looking backward at other European husbands is a long one, international marriages it would appear that hor chances for a happy married life are nothing like a fifty-fifty shot.

The roster of American brides of and misery and unhappiness are written large after each name. Here is a part of the discouraging list:

Consuelo Vanderbilt and Duke of Mariborough, separated; husband neglected her and was extravagant.

Anna Gould and Count de Castellane, divorced; husband preferred other women and spent her money on them.

Sarah Stokes and Baron Halkett, divorced; used her as a football and showered attentions and money on other women.

Ella Haggin and Count de Tolna, divorced; husband tried to feed her to cannibals.

Martha Williamson and Count Dudolstadt, divorced; treated her as a servant.

Ruth Amory and Baron Roquefort, divorced; noble husband threatened her life with a butcher's knife.

Justice Dixon and Sir Spencer Headley, divorced; husband had delirium tremens and became insane from drink.

Reina Furst and Count Penaloza, divorced; driven into the street at night.

Mary Wheeler and Count Pappenhein, divorced; refused to admit her as social equal.

Clara Ward and Prince Chimay, divorced; neglected and ill-treated her.

Alice Thaw and Earl of Yarmouth, divorced; deserted her after extorting all the money possible.

Marie Satterfield and Count Larisch, divorced; squandered her money and deserted her.

Adele Sampson and Duke de Dino, divorced; spent all her money.

Anna Robinson and Earl Rosslyn, divorced; husband lost her money on the races.

Eleanor Patterson and Count Gzicky; deserted her and extorted money.

Helen Norton and Duke Valencay, marriage annulled; grossly insulted and ill-treated.

Eva Mackay and Prince Colonna, divorced; husband associated with other women.

Alice Heine and Prince of Monaco, divorced; subjected to indignities.

Florence Druillard and Count de Pourtales, divorced; was ill-treated in public.

May Cuyler and Sir Philip Egerton, divorced; husband was inconstant.

Bessie Curtis and Marquis de Talleyrand-Perigord, divorced; husband was gambler.

Estelle Chapin and Count Villars, divorced; squandered her money.

Elizabeth Carey and Baron de Stuers, divorced; wife kept prisoner in castle.

Florence Audenroid and Count Forest-Divonne; beaten and ill-treated by her husband.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS AT NORFOLK

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 24—Once again Norfolk has thrown her gates wide open in welcome to the Confederate veterans of Virginia, whose annual State reunion was opened today under conditions that promise one of the most enthusiastic gatherings held by the old soldiers in recent years. The business district has donned holiday attire in honor of the gathering, which will continue its sessions three days. The principal business sessions and several of the chief features of entertainment are scheduled for tomorrow.

A formidable auto truck, the Wright Way Auto Service, was driven from Springfield to this city yesterday with goods for a local resident.
